Council moved that Presbytery approve an overture entitled “Overture Regarding Sexual Orientation Conversion “Therapies.””

A motion to consider the overture seriatim was defeated by a vote of 82 yes, 69 no.

A motion was made to amend the resolution by deleting paragraph 3, which reads:

3. Direct all agencies of the General Assembly, and strongly encourage all synods, presbyteries, sessions, congregations, and affiliated educational institutions, to refrain from supporting, implementing, or sponsoring therapies or ministries which attempt to alter a person’s sexual orientation.

After debate, the motion to amend was approved by a vote of 87 yes to 85 no.

The Presbytery voted to approve the following resolution (as amended and renumbered) by a vote of 124 yes to 55 no.

OVERTURE REGARDING SEXUAL ORIENTATION CONVERSION “THERAPIES”

Whereas, the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) is called to a ministry of compassion and reconciliation in the world. (W-7.3000 - W-7.4000); and

Whereas, in the church’s ministry of compassion it is called “to minister to the immediate needs and hurts of people” and “to engage those structures and systems which create or foster brokenness and distortion.” (W-7.3003); and

Whereas, in the church’s ministry of reconciliation it “commits itself to strive for justice and peace in its own life and in the world.” (W-7.4001); and

Whereas, this vision of justice includes “dealing honestly in personal and public business, supporting people who seek the dignity, freedom, and respect that they have been denied, bearing witness against political oppression and exploitation, and redressing wrongs against individuals, groups, and peoples in the church, in this nation, and in the whole world.” (W-7.4002); and

Whereas, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) has challenged Presbyterians to “reject in their own lives, and challenge in others, the sin of homophobia” (190th General Assembly, 1978); and

Presbytery 2/23/99
Whereas the recent national discourse, supported from within the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), regarding the so-called ex-gay “therapies” has violated the church’s commitment to compassion, justice, reconciliation, and peace set forth in the Book of Order of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) in sections W-7.3000 and W-7.4000; and

Whereas, this national discourse has been framed by misinformation and hurtful rhetoric which violates the great ends of the church enumerated in the Book of Order of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) which include “the preservation of the truth; the promotion of social righteousness; and the exhibition of the Kingdom of heaven to the world” (G-1.0200); and

Whereas, the truth regarding ex-gay “therapies” is that they are not supported by evidence, and furthermore are not supported by the professional psychological organizations of our country; and

Whereas, the American Psychological Association has stated that “no scientific evidence exists to support the effectiveness of any of the conversion therapies that try to change sexual orientation” (American Psychological Association Fact Sheet on Reparative Therapy); and

Whereas, the American Psychological Association has declared that “homosexuality is not a mental disorder and the APA opposes all portrayals of lesbians, gay and bisexual people as mentally ill and in need of treatment due to their sexual orientation.” (Resolution on Appropriate Therapeutic Responses to Sexual Orientation); and

Whereas, the American Academy of Pediatrics has stated that there is “little or no potential for achieving change in [sexual orientation].” (Pediatrics, October, 1993, p. 631); and

Whereas, the American Psychiatric Association has rejected reparative “therapy” by stating, “There is no scientific evidence that reparative or conversion therapy is effective in changing a person’s sexual orientation. There is, however, evidence that this type of therapy can be destructive.” (American Psychiatric Association Resolution, 1998); and

Whereas, the American Psychiatric Association further states, “The American Psychiatric Association opposes any psychiatric treatment, such as ‘reparative’ or ‘conversion’ therapy which is based upon the assumption that homosexuality per se is a mental disorder or based upon a prior assumption that the patient should change his/her homosexual orientation.” (American Psychiatric Association Resolution, 1998); and

Whereas, reparative “therapies” involve such forms of violence as electroshock, castration, and aversion therapy; and

Whereas, “In each time and place there are particular problems and crises through which God calls the church to act. The church, guided by the Spirit, humbled by its own complicity and instructed by all attainable knowledge, seeks to discern the will of God and learn how to obey in these concrete situations” (Confession of 1967, 9.43); and

Whereas, the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) has been complicit, through sins of omission more than sins of commission, in the misinformation and hurtful rhetoric which has been promulgated in exceedingly public fora such as full page ads in national newspapers and television ads regarding ex-gay “therapies”;

Therefore, the Presbytery of Detroit respectfully overtures the 211th General Assembly to:

1. Call upon the church to repent anew of the sin of homophobia, and of all violence—physical, psychological, emotional, and spiritual—based upon perceptions of sexual orientation.
2. Renew its commitment to educating members of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) about the harm done by prejudice, in particular on sexual orientation, by development of educational resources addressing both the prevalence of societal violence directed against lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender persons, and also the Church’s complicity therein.
3. Direct the Stated Clerk to communicate this decision in a pastoral letter to all Ministers of the Word and Sacrament, Clerks of Session, and Presbytery and Synod Stated Clerks, and to national and international ecumenical bodies of which the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) is a member, and to denominational bodies to which the PC(USA) is committed in covenantal relationship through the formula of agreement and with COCU.

Upon motion of Council, Presbytery voted to:

1. Receive the December 8, 1998 (previously distributed), January 12, January 26, and February 9, 1999 minutes of Council as records of all that took place in that meeting, and order them appended to the minutes of this meeting.

2. Approve the request of the First Presbyterian Church of Ypsilanti to refinance an existing $175,000 commercial loan to the Presbyterian Investment Loan Program, authorize Presbytery's officers to sign the PILP guarantee documents, and allocate Presbytery's credits not to exceed $35,000.

3. Approve, pending final approval by Presbytery's attorney, the Presbytery of Detroit grant a 35' X 25' right of way easement on the Howell Center property to Ameritech. This easement would be used for construction of a 4' X 10' X 6' above ground control panel. Ameritech will pay a one time $3,500 fee for the right of way.

4. Approve the Agreement of Sale for the presbytery’s purchase of Parcel I.D.# 09-23-201-074, described as

T3n, R14E, SEC 23 COMM AT N 1/4 POST SEC 23; TH S01 21' 15"W 87.02 FT TO PT OF BEG; TH S89 48' 23"E 576.83 FT; TH S0 00'07"W 472.98 FT; TH N89 48'23"W 587.99 FT; TH N01 21'15” E 472.98 FT TO PT OF BEG 6.33 AC,

2. Approve the expense of a one-half page ad ($75.00) for a benefit to honor Fran Anderson given by the Greater Pontiac Community Coalition on January 22, 1999. The theme of the benefit will be “Thanks for the Memories” and monies will be given to Fran’s favorite charities. Funds to come out of Council Budget.

Steering Committee moved the following:

Approve funding of Healing Task Force Worship Service to be held during Presbytery Meeting in February for up to $2,000.00 for a major speaker. These funds are to come from account #52010-101, Council Expenses.

Council discussed the motion at great length, raising a variety of concerns:

- The Social Justice and Peacemaking Task Force on Homosexuality and the Church had requested that Janie Spahr (who will be at the February Presbytery meeting) be invited to preach, and that this request had been denied by Council’s Theology and Worship Committee on the grounds that it had been directed by Council to limit the nature and length of worship services;
- The question was raised whether an outside speaker was an appropriate way to foster healing in the Presbytery;
- Concern was expressed that a healing service that focuses on brokenness and such activities as anointing and other healing liturgies may be more effective than preaching;
- Some concern that a lay person may do better in expressing the intent than a minister;

The following amendment was made:

Add the following after the word “Expenses”:

That the healing Task Force be apprised of the of various concerns raised by Council.

Council approved the amendment.

The motion (as amended) was defeated by a vote of 8 yes and 14 no.

Council continued to discuss alternatives on what should be done in this matter. During the course of the discussion, some expressed that the expenditure of this amount of money would be ill spent—regardless of the stature of the preacher—given other Presbytery priorities. Others expressed concern that one of the groups who had expressed great concern about hurt was told it could not have a preacher at the same meeting where there would be a preacher from a different group. Others expressed concern that the issue in a healing service should focus on our brokenness, something that goes beyond the hurt of any defined group. Considerations were given to change the meeting to the April meeting.

A motion to reconsider the previous vote was made and defeated by a vote of 7 yes and 14 no.

The following motion was made:
That the Healing Task Force go forward with a healing service without a preacher, and use the resources in the Book of Common Worship and the expertise of the Theology and Worship Committee.

After debate and a motion to call the question, the motion was defeated by a vote of 6 yes and 14 no.

A motion was made to amend the following resolution approved at the November meeting of Council,
"The healing service being planned by the Healing Task Force be done at the February, 1999 Presbytery meeting, and that as much as 60 minutes be allowed for the service" by deleting the word “February” and inserting the word “April.” The motion was defeated by a vote of 5 yes and 14 no.

A motion was made as follows:
To refer the matter back to the Task Force with comments and concerns of Council, and to hold $2,000 in carry-over from account #52010-101, Council Expenses, for its use in the service.

After debate the question was called. Council approved the motion by a vote of 12 yes and 7 no. Subsequent discussion made it clear that these funds were available only as necessary, and that Council did not want them used for an outside preacher.

THEOLOGY AND WORSHIP

Jane Wong reported for the Committee. The Committee made the following motion:
PAYMENT OF WORSHIP MUSICIANS
AT DETROIT PRESBYTERY MEETINGS

A variety of music and competent music leadership are vital to the worship service at each Presbytery meeting in order to enhance worship and bring varied styles of worship music to the Presbytery.

A church requesting that a presbytery meeting be held in their sanctuary, will be responsible for obtaining and paying all musicians used at Presbytery worship.

When Presbytery (stated clerk or T & W Committee) contacts a church requesting that the church host a Presbytery meeting, the Council will offer to bear the cost of the organist/pianist used in worship at the rate of $75.00 for the service. Choir directors whose services are used in Presbytery worship will also be paid at the rate of $75.00 for the service. An organist/director who plays and directs a choir in a presbytery worship service will be paid at the rate of $125.00 for the service.

When the Theology and Worship committee deems it necessary for professional instrumental musicians, cantors, or vocal soloists, to be used in place of or in addition to the organist/pianist for a particular Presbytery worship service, those musicians shall be paid from the Theology and Worship budget at a rate consistent with American Federation of Musicians union scale. This may include, but is not limited to professional instrumentalists or vocalists; it is not inclusive of church choir members, church handbell choirs, church choirchime choirs, or volunteer church instrumentalists. Possible exceptions must be approved by Theology and Worship Committee, prior to payment request.

The fee required for permission to use music from sources other than the Presbyterian Hymnal for congregational singing at a Presbytery worship service will be borne by the Theology and Worship Committee.

The motion was amended by deleting the word “used” and inserting the word “requested” in the second sentence of the third paragraph, so that the sentence reads, “Choir directors whose services are requested in Presbytery worship will also be paid at the rate of $75.00 for the service.”

After debate, a motion was made and approved to refer the resolution back to the Committee on Theology and Worship to address issues and objections raised by Council.

IV. IN THE LIFE OF THE PRESBYTERY

Fran Anderson made the following motion on behalf of the Committee on Mission
Interpretation and Stewardship:

That Sheri Noah be permitted to sell candles for the Detroit Refugee Settlement Center (Freedom House) at Presbytery meetings, and to offer the candles on consignment for churches to sell.

After debate, the motion was defeated by a count of 7 yes and 8 no.

V. ADJOURNMENT

There being no further business to come before the Council, the meeting was adjourned at 5:10 and dismissed with prayer by Deborah Kerr, after which those who were at their last Council meeting skipped out with exceeding great joy.

The next Council meeting will convene on Tuesday, January 12, 1999 at 2:30 p.m..

REPORTS OF OFFICERS

The Moderator reported on a letter and a piece of music composed by Elder Allen Borton, elder commissioner from Ann Arbor Westminster Church. Mr. Borton wrote that he was a music professional who lost his vocal abilities after an accident. But he appreciated very much his experience as a commissioner over the year. During the January meeting he was moved to put Psalm 100 to music, which he dedicated to the Presbytery of Detroit and Deborah Kerr, with whom he had corresponded over the year. The music was referred to the Worship and Theology Committee.

Upon motion, Council approved the minutes of December 8, 1998, January 12, 1999, and January 26, 1999 (as amended).

The Stated Clerk presented correspondence from Fran Anderson thanking Council for the words and sentiment expressed in an ad purchased for a program celebrating one of Fran's many ministries. He reported a letter from the Executive Presbyter of Lake Huron Presbytery inviting participation in Lake Huron's meeting at Alma College on June 3 & 4.

TRUSTEES

PROPERTY AND INVESTMENTS COMMITTEE

Don Brownell reported for the Committee. Motions were sustained that Council:

1. Recommend Presbytery approve the request of the First Presbyterian Church of Ypsilanti to refinance an existing $175,000 commercial loan to the Presbyterian Investment Loan Program, authorize Presbytery's officers to sign the PILP guarantee documents, and allocate Presbytery's credits not to exceed $35,000.

2. Approve amending two of the Articles in the License Agreement between Barnabas Project and Young Detroit Builders and adding a new Article. The articles are:

Waiver by LICENSOR of any breach of any term or provision hereof shall not be deemed a waiver of any subsequent breach of the same or any other term or provision hereof.

   Change termination from thirty days to sixty days.

3. Recommend Presbytery approve, pending final approval by Presbytery's attorney, the Presbytery of Detroit grant a 35' X 25' right of way easement on the Howell Center property to Ameritech. This easement would be used for construction of a 4' X 10' X 6' above ground control panel. Ameritech will pay a one time $3,500 fee for the right of way.

Council 2/9/99
4. Approve and recommend that the Presbytery of Detroit approve at its Stated Meeting on February 23, 1999, the Agreement of Sale for the presbytery’s purchase of Parcel I.D.# 09-23-201-074, described as covering approximately 6.3 acres of land in the township of Chesterfield, county of Macomb, state of Michigan, for the sum of $400,000 as signed by the seller on February 3, 1999, and subject to the contingencies contained therein.

T3n, R14E, SEC 23 COMM AT N 1/4 POST SEC 23; TH S01 21' 15"W 87.02 FT TO PT OF BEG; TH S89 48' 23"E 576.83 FT; TH S0 00'07"W 472.98 FT; TH N89 48'23"W 587.99 FT; TH N01 21'15" E 472.98 FT TO PT OF BEG 6.33 AC,

Mr. Brownell reported that an endowment was given to the Presbytery through the Presbyterian Foundation.

FINANCIAL

THE TREASURER

Treasurer Wilma Dellinger presented preliminary reports for the fiscal year 1998. These preliminary figures indicate that Presbytery received something over $1,000,000 in income and expended roughly $940,000. The surplus resulted mostly from spending controls and good performance of investments.

Upon motion, Council voted to accept the preliminary budget pending an audit.

COMMITTEES OF COUNCIL

STEERING COMMITTEE

Robert Perdue reported for the Committee. Motions were sustained that Council:

1. Approve a pre-presbytery event for the November meeting by Social Justice and Peacemaking. Presentation by Professor James Tubbs on Ethics and Health Care.

2. Approve the docket for the February meeting.

A motion was made and approved to postpone until the March meeting of Council the Committee’s motion to approve a pre-presbytery event for the April meeting on long term care insurance by Paul Moon Board of Pension Representative (2:15 - 3:00).

By motion, Council approved shifting annual reports from Presbyterian men and Presbyterian Women to the April meeting of Presbytery.

PLANNING AND STRUCTURE

Mark Thomas reported for the Committee. Mr. Thomas presented an overture submitted to his committee for Council’s approval and recommendation to Presbytery. After amendment, Council approved the following overture for submission to Presbytery with a recommendation for approval:

OVERTURE REGARDING SEXUAL ORIENTATION CONVERSION "THERAPIES"

Whereas, the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) is called to a ministry of compassion and reconciliation in the world. (W-7.3000 - W-7.4000); and

Whereas, in the church's ministry of compassion it is called "to minister to the immediate needs and hurts of people" and "to engage those structures and systems which create or foster brokenness and distortion." (W-7.3003); and
Whereas, in the church's ministry of reconciliation it "commits itself to strive for justice and peace in its own life and in the world." (W-7.4001); and
Whereas, this vision of justice includes "dealing honestly in personal and public business, supporting people who seek the dignity, freedom, and respect that they have been denied, bearing witness against political oppression and exploitation, and redressing wrongs against individuals, groups, and peoples in the church, in this nation, and in the whole world." (W-7.4002); and
Whereas, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) has challenged Presbyterians to "reject in their own lives, and challenge in others, the sin of homophobia" (190th General Assembly, 1978); and
Whereas the recent national discourse, supported from within the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), regarding the so-called ex-gay "therapies" has violated the church's commitment to compassion, justice, reconciliation, and peace set forth in the Book of Order of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) in sections W-7.3000 and W-7.4000; and
Whereas, this national discourse has been framed by misinformation and hurtful rhetoric which violates the great ends of the church enumerated in the Book of Order of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) which include "the preservation of the truth; the promotion of social righteousness; and the exhibition of the Kingdom of heaven to the world" (G-1.0200); and
Whereas, the truth regarding ex-gay "therapies" is that they are not supported by evidence, and furthermore are not supported by the professional psychological organizations of our country; and
Whereas, the American Psychological Association has stated that "no scientific evidence exists to support the effectiveness of any of the conversion therapies that try to change sexual orientation" (American Psychological Association Fact Sheet on Reparative Therapy); and
Whereas, the American Psychological Association has declared that "homosexuality is not a mental disorder and the APA opposes all portrayals of lesbians, gay and bisexual people as mentally ill and in need of treatment due to their sexual orientation." (Resolution on Appropriate Therapeutic Responses to Sexual Orientation); and
Whereas, the American Academy of Pediatrics has stated that there is "little or no potential for achieving change in [sexual] orientation." (Pediatrics, October, 1993, p. 631); and
Whereas, the American Psychiatric Association has rejected reparative "therapy" by stating, "There is no scientific evidence that reparative or conversion therapy is effective in changing a person's sexual orientation. There is, however, evidence that this type of therapy can be destructive." (American Psychiatric Association Resolution, 1998); and
Whereas, the American Psychiatric Association further states, "The American Psychiatric Association opposes any psychiatric treatment, such as 'reparative' or 'conversion' therapy which is based upon the assumption that homosexuality per se is a mental disorder or based upon a prior assumption that the patient should change his/her homosexual orientation." (American Psychiatric Association Resolution, 1998); and
Whereas, reparative “therapies” involve such forms of violence as electroshock, castration, and aversion therapy; and

Whereas, “In each time and place there are particular problems and crises through which God calls the church to act. The church, guided by the Spirit, humbled by its own complicity and instructed by all attainable knowledge, seeks to discern the will of God and learn how to obey in these concrete situations” (Confession of 1967, 9.43); and

Whereas, the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) has been complicit, through sins of omission more than sins of commission, in the misinformation and hurtful rhetoric which has been promulgated in exceedingly public fora such as full page ads in national newspapers and television ads regarding ex-gay “therapies”; Therefore, the Presbytery of Detroit respectfully overtures the 211th General Assembly to:

1. Call upon the church to repent anew of the sin of homophobia, and of all violence—physical, psychological, emotional, and spiritual—based upon perceptions of sexual orientation.

2. Renew its commitment to educating members of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) about the harm done by prejudice, in particular on sexual orientation, by development of educational resources addressing both the prevalence of societal violence directed against lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender persons, and also the Church’s complicity therein.

3. Direct all agencies of the General Assembly, and strongly encourage all synods, presbyteries, sessions, congregations, and affiliated educational institutions, to refrain from supporting, implementing, or sponsoring therapies or ministries which attempt to alter a person’s sexual orientation.

4. Direct the Stated Clerk to communicate this decision in a pastoral letter to all Ministers of the Word and Sacrament, Clerks of Session, and Presbytery and Synod Stated Clerks, and to national and international ecumenical bodies of which the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) is a member, and to denominational bodies to which the PC(USA) is committed in covenantal relationship through the formula of agreement and with COCU.

IN THE LIFE OF THE PRESBYTERY

Ken smith reported for Racial Ethnic Concerns Committee. Mr. Smith made the following motion, which was approved by Council:

That Council authorize Racial Ethnic Concerns to enter into a contract with Colombiere Center to hold a training at that facility on June 13-16, and to pay a $1,000 non-refundable deposit.

Upon the recommendation of the Presbytery Executive and the Committee on Property and Investment, Council approved the following motion:

That the Presbytery Council authorize the creation of a Task Force to be appointed by the Chair of Council, to develop and recommend to Presbytery for approval, an Endowment Fund Document for the Presbytery of Detroit setting forth at least the following:
• statement of purpose
• treatment of designated and undesignated funds
• gifts acceptance policy (types of gifts accepted and under what circumstances; e.g., land, stock, etc.)
• conflict of interest provisions, and
• other appropriate provisions.

Upon learning that Nile Harper has just had a book published on urban churches, Council approved a motion to authorize Presbytery’s hosting a book-signing for his book, which may include selling the books.

ADJOURNMENT

There being no further business to come before the Council, the meeting was adjourned at 5:05 and dismissed with prayer.

The next Council meeting will convene on Tuesday, March 9, 1999 at 2:30.

Attest: Edward H. Koster
Stated Clerk
I. GATHERED AS THE PEOPLE OF GOD

A quorum being present, the Presbytery of Detroit, of the Presbyterian Church (USA) was convened in stated session on Tuesday, April 27, 1999, at 5:33 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church, Pontiac, MI. The meeting was opened with a service of evening worship.

II. OPENING FORMALITIES

The Moderator

Moderator Seabrooks appointed Carolyn Quinn as the Assistant to the Clerk, and Kevin Bartlett as the Temporary Recording Clerk. New Commissioners and ministers were welcomed by the Moderator.

The Executive Presbyter gave a brief tribute and prayer for the ministry of Gertrude Rogers, Recording Clerk of the Presbytery, who died on April 8th, 1999.

The Stated Clerk

Upon motion of the Stated Clerk, Ed Koster, Presbytery

1. Adopted the docket.
2. Excused all continuing members of Presbytery and elder members of Council who asked to be excused.
3. Seated as corresponding members all eligible persons who were presented to the Presbytery and who registered on the enrollment sheet for corresponding members.

Welcome from the Host Church

Russell Brandt, interim pastor of Pontiac First, welcomed the Presbytery, and gave a brief review of the history of this church in this 175th year. The congregation was formed on February 26th, 1824, and is the parent church of many of the churches in Oakland County.

Annual Reports From Presbytery-Related Organizations

Barbara Gepford gave the annual report from Presbyterian Women, and George Irwin reported for Presbyterian Men.

III BUSINESS TO BE ADOPTED BY MOTION AND DEBATE

Moderator Seabrooks opened this portion of the meeting with prayer.

MOTIONS FROM THE FLOOR

Upon motion from the floor, the docket was amended to include a report from the Committee on Nominations.
MOTIONS AND REPORTS FROM PRESBYTERY UNITS

STATED CLERK

Upon motion of the Stated clerk, Presbytery:

1. Approved the minutes of February 23, 1999, with the following addition on page 7:
   "Artheillia Thompson gave an extensive report on hunger in the Presbytery and possible ways of combating it."

2. Approved the following Administrative Commission Reports and ordered them appended to the minutes:
   a) The installation of Richard Lanning as Pastor of Calvin East Presbyterian Church on November 8, 1998.
   b) The ordination of Yoonwhan Monch Kim on behalf of Midwest Hanmi Presbytery, and his installation as Associate Pastor, Southfield Korean Church on February 14, 1999.

3. Approved the Equalization of Elders as follows:
   The Book of Order requires the Stated Clerk annually to ascertain the members of Presbytery who are active in the life of the Presbytery in order to determine the appropriate number of commissioners that the churches should be sending. The intention is to ensure that the number of ministers and elders is equal. G-11.0101

   The Book of Order specifies certain representation according to the size of the church. G-11.0101a. It further states that if additional commissioners are needed to bring the representation to equal numbers, a Presbytery may select its own for granting additional commissioners. By policy, the Presbytery of Detroit has given precedence to churches who have a majority of members who are an ethnic minority.

   The number of ministers reported last year was 171. I report the number of active ministers this year as 170. I count the number of active ministers as those on the active roll who are resident in the area, plus those on the retired roll who are active in the life of Presbytery. I measured the latter by counting those retired ministers who are on a Presbytery committee, who have a position of some kind in a local congregation, or who regularly attend.

   The far-right column represents the number of commissioners a church should elect for the period May 1, 1999 to April 30, 2000.

III. FOR INFORMATION

1. The Staff Service Committee has been exploring various staffing models in use by other presbyteries, but is holding off on making any specific recommendations until the report of the Ownership Task Force has been presented and considered by Council and Presbytery.

2. Effective April 16, the work week for full time permanent hourly employees will be 40 hours per week. Current members of the support staff will move to a 40 hour week on a voluntary basis; that is those who wish to remain at the current 35 hour week may do so and those who wish to move to the 40 hour week may do so. At present, three out of the five members of the support staff have chosen to go to 40 hours per week. This move is in lieu of filling a vacant secretarial position. The funding for the unfilled secretarial position will be used to fund the increased compensation for a 40 hour week.

3. As of 2/28/99, income received was $152,208.51 and expenses were $150,207.21. Even though the figures represent a $2,001.30 surplus, the rate of receipts has fallen short of what is necessary to meet the budget. Unless the income increases, we will be required to cut the budget in June.

   Council has taken the following actions:

1. Approved the purchase of a new telephone system for the Presbytery offices at a cost not to exceed $22,000. The cost to be taken from the Capital Fund, with actual system to be selected from Regulus Corporation.

2. Approved the following contracts in connection with the proposed acquisition of land in Chesterfield Twp. For the Church of the Covenant site:

   - Firm 6-A 3-A 9-A
   - 1. Soil (Geotechnical) study by Somat Engineering $4,200 $5,300
   - 2. Soils & Materials Engineering (Env. Site Ass.) $2,500 $3,700
   - 3. Giffels & Webster* (ALTA Survey) $4,500 $7,000
   - Total estimated price: $11,200 $16,000

   And approved the additional work resulting from or recommended by the contractors be authorized so long as the total price of the Soil (Geotechnical) study, the Environmental Site Assessment (and any recommended Baseline) and the ALTA Survey does not exceed $25,000.

1. Approved the sale of an IBM compatible computer to Mary Ann Standing for the sum of $1.00. (The depreciated value of the computer is $0.)

Committee on Metropolitan Mission
Barbara Ndovie reported for the Committee and presented the following:

A REPORT FROM THE METROPOLITAN MISSION COMMITTEE
THREE OPEN HEARINGS ON MISSION
PART 1. INTRODUCTION

The Detroit Presbytery Committee on Metropolitan Mission began the new year of 1999 by conducting three Open Hearings on Mission to seek the concerns, thoughts, ideas, and project proposals of pastors, elders, and church members, with a focus on what should be the priority items for the Metropolitan Mission Committee. Three hearings were held. The first open hearing was in January at Westminster Church in Detroit; the second at St. John’s Church in Detroit in February; and the third was in March at the Waterford Community Presbyterian Church. In all, just over one hundred people participated in person, by telephone conversation, or in written communication.

The emphasis in the hearings was on the realization that Detroit Presbytery, acting through its Metropolitan Mission Committee, cannot do everything that might be useful or desired. But it can and should do some things that will enable people, churches, and others to improve their local mission and to act cooperatively to accomplish things that individual churches alone cannot do effectively.

There were a number of hopes and desires common to all the hearings that give witness to a certain unity within the Presbytery. These include, but are not limited to:
- The deep desire for good news—the gospel;
- The deep desire for community across divisions;
- The deep desire for balance between tradition and creativity;
- The hope that the Presbytery is turning a corner and moving ahead;
- The hope that God will do new things through Detroit Presbytery in 2000 and beyond.

Along with the many positive ideas that were expressed, persons also indicated a number of problems, criticisms, and challenges from their various parish situations. These are included in the following thoughts that were shared.

- Thinking too small: "We do not seem to have vision for doing new things; we do not build new buildings in the city and we do not fill up the ones we have; we seem too traditional, still doing things from the past."
- Lack of inclusiveness: "Most of our churches are homogeneous; our congregations..."
are mostly all black or white—with a couple of exceptions—and we do not seem to attract Hispanics."

• Membership getting older: "Most of the members in our churches are middle-aged or older; there are not many churches with lots of children and youth."

• Members separated from community: "In many of our churches the members do not live in the neighborhood and, consequently, do not have a very good understanding of life as it actually is everyday in the community."

• Lack of positive support for suburban churches that face urban challenges.

• Evangelism not aimed at African-Americans: "The type of evangelism the Presbytery promotes does not appeal to most African-American people."

• Lack positive identity: "What is there in Detroit that has a significant, strong Presbyterian identity? What symbol is there that 'we care' about diverse peoples?"

The following report gives a summary presentation of the ideas expressed and advocated at the hearings, identifies the priorities set by the Committee, and makes recommendations to the Presbytery. Criteria used for setting priorities by the Committee are stated at the end of the report.

PART II. SUMMARY FROM THE HEARINGS

The first ten items were identified by the Metropolitan Mission Committee as the highest priorities for study and action by the appropriate units of Presbytery during the year 2000.

1. Promote Partnership. Many persons spoke of the need for more interactive partnerships between congregations collaborating in projects of mutual mission. The emphasis is on sharing resources, learning from one another, forming a stronger, more skilled community capable of achieving larger goals than could be realized separately. The need for a Volunteer Service Directory was identified.

2. Improve Presbytery Mission Interpretation. Several persons advocated the great need for stronger, wider, continuous public interpretation of the already existing mission programs such as Fort Street Open Door Center, Grandale Mission Center, Westminster Outreach Center, and the Barnabas Project. They encouraged efforts to secure ecumenical participation and support, seek greater exposure in the public media, and create a new medium for getting the good news of mission out within the Presbytery. A six-time-per-year single sheet mailing with Metro Mission News that could be enclosed in other Presbytery-wide mailings was proposed. A Metro Mission Web Site was suggested.

3. Develop Resources for Youth Ministry. The challenge of helping youth develop their identity, get good quality education, develop skills, find helpful community connections, experience the possibility of a hopeful future, and grow in faith and positive self-understanding was articulated by a number of speakers. This challenge of youth ministry was especially highlighted by persons from St. John's Presbyterian Church. There is need for specially skilled persons to give leadership in this crucial ministry. The resources to enable urban congregations to create high quality, continuing ministry with youth are critically important.

4. Redevelopment of First Presbyterian Church on Woodward Avenue, Detroit. A number of persons spoke of the opportunity to create a Center for Urban Mission in the old First Presbyterian Church building in downtown Detroit. The vision included creating a headquarters for Detroit Presbytery that would symbolize its commitment to central Detroit; creating a center for Urban Mission Education for clergy and laity; creating better facilities for the Ecumenical Theological Seminary; forming a new urban-oriented congregation that would be able to initiate new forms of ministry in relation to the key institutions in the area, such as the hospitals, schools, cultural centers, and the city government.

5. Web Site for Metro Mission. It was suggested that the most effective way of sharing mission information with churches in Presbytery was for the Metro Mission Committee to develop a web site to advertise possible partnership opportunities, mission challenges, service projects, and to help match needs with volunteers.

6. Consultation of Urban Churches. Convene a consultation of the fifteen Presbyterian churches in Detroit along with another fifteen churches in first-ring suburbs and in other urban communities such as Pontiac, Dearborn, Livonia, Redford, Royal Oak, Southfield, Warren, and Waterford. The purpose would be to explore challenges, share ideas, find areas of common need, exchange helpful information, and formulate ways in which churches could mutually collaborate, and identify ways in which Presbytery could be helpful.

7. Barnabas Project. A number of persons advocated strengthening the Barnabas Project, located at Grand River and Trumbull Avenues, where Stanley Edwards is the Director. This long-standing outreach project relates to children and youth. It is located in a former bank building owned by the Presbytery. The building has just been renovated to create rental income potential that could help support the Barnabas ministry. The project includes, among other things, technical education in woodworking skills for youth; Youth Enterprises, which makes bookcases, desks, and cabinets for sale; Mentoring and Family Services; and life skills classes and counseling. The project needs new board members, a stronger set of supportive partnerships, increased funding, and additional staff, especially in summer.

8. Grandale Mission Center. Eight people spoke of the importance of strengthening the Grandale Mission Center on the westside of Detroit. Its existing programs of tutoring, mentoring, after-school center, computer training, expanded summer program, food program, youth ministry, and pastoral counseling all need increased financial and human resource support. In addition, there is great need for creating affordable housing, rehabilitating existing housing, creating employment opportunity, and it was noted that there is no city-operated shelter for homeless people on the westside of Detroit.

9. Local Church Initiative. Several advocates sounded the theme that local congregations should take initiatives for mission action in their communities and that the Presbytery Metropolitan Mission Committee would be a resource, a consultant, a broker of partnerships, and a respondent to local requests for mission enablement. In this pattern, the Committee would help local churches find human and financial resources, assist in creating collaborative partnerships with secular and non-profit helping organizations, other churches, private and public sector resources.

10. An Urban Spiritual Life Center. Several advocates from Westminster Presbyterian Church described the spiritual and physical renaissance of Detroit. They advocated the creation of a Spiritual Life Center with a focus on urban renaissance. Westminster Church might be a place for such a center—using both its church facilities and its camp—for a cluster of renewing activities such as enabling work-service groups, promoting partnerships between urban and suburban congregations, conducting spirituality for city life conferences, collaborating with Ecumenical Seminary faculty, coordinating church involvement in hunger programs and mentoring projects. To start such an effort, a mature seminary intern with previous experience and skills might be secured to serve as a coordinator.

11. Focus on Culturally Appropriate Evangelism. A number of churches asked for the Presbytery to help congregations better understand their neighborhoods in order to create more culturally appropriate outreach, promote positive identity formation, and foster greater inclusiveness. The need for a variety of culturally sensitive evangelism models was affirmed. A number of persons asked the Presbytery to provide some leadership in this important arena.

12. Children’s Aid Society. Several persons spoke of the urgent need to reach out to children in our church communities. It was noted that the Moderator of the General Assembly this year had challenged the churches of our denomination to each do at least one new thing to help children at risk. It was suggested that the Detroit Children’s Aid Society has long experience in reaching out to children and that it is ready, willing and able to cooperate with local churches in creating neighborhood centers to serve children and their families in the city of Detroit. The Detroit Children’s Aid Society can provide on-site services in churches.

13. Educational Support. Presbytery mission needs to lift up, encourage and support the importance of the family in the church and the school. St. John’s Presbyterian Church has a program to help families provide school supplies, prepare children for school, and promote parent participation to improve the public schools. This cooperation with parents provides a way for families to come into the ongoing life of the church. The Presbytery should be actively supporting the improvement of the public schools.

14. Senior Citizen Housing. Detroit has a high percentage of elderly people and there is a great need for affordable senior citizen housing, with supportive programming attached, that enables seniors to continue to live at home in their chosen community. Hope Presbyterian Church is especially interested in this challenge. The potential partnership with Presbyterian Villages as an experienced, skilled, and knowledgeable ally was noted as an important resource. Presbyterian Villages is currently constructing new senior housing in downtown Detroit at Brush Park, two blocks from First Presbyterian Church.

15. Health Care Needs. A volunteer chaplain at Detroit Grace Hospital spoke of great needs for health care services in the city. It was indicated that Sinai Hospital will probably be closed in the near future. This will have deep impact on people. There are many families without any health insurance and essentially without any primary health care. Beyond this is the profound need for a spiritual and wholistic understanding of health and healing. Further, there is the need for preventive health education and guidance, which enables people to take charge of their own health with a positive attitude and constructive behavior. The questions were raised, "Are there any health centers or health clinics currently operating in Presbyterian churches? Are there any specific healing ministries in our churches?"

16. Partnership with Presbytery Economic Development Corporation. Several advocates noted that the Economic Development Corporation of the Presbytery has been established to assist congregations and communities to do the work of creating new opportunities for business development, community empowerment, development of affordable housing, and employment projects. It has an active board of directors, an up-to-date Center in the former bank building, and certain skills and expertise. It was suggested that Metro Mission should have a more direct relation to the Economic Development Corporation for mutual collaboration on specific projects.

17. St. Christopher Church Model. The work of the St. Christopher Episcopal Church in Detroit with children and youth was described. It is based on partnership with several suburban congregations who provide workers and some funding. About 60 mid-high children are engaged in a five-day-a-week after school program. Transportation is arranged to bring the 60 children to the church after school. Volunteers from the church and from several suburban partner churches join together in leading in music, school tutoring, drama and food. The focus is on the time zone between 3:00 and 6:00 p.m. Families appreciate this positive educational tutoring and post-school nurture. The church also operates an extensive summer program for children and mid-high youth. Birmingham Northbrook is one of the suburban partner churches.

18. Communication from a Pastor and Session. A letter from a pastor of an urban church in a suburb advocates the following:

- Our church is located in an area plagued with urban problems, such as teenage pregnancy, youth gangs, unstable families, growing poverty, significant unemployment, alcoholism and drug dependency, racial tension and an aging population.
- We are frustrated that Presbytery will not validate or support any urban mission projects in southeast Macomb County.
- Presbytery seems interested only in supporting mission projects in the city of Detroit.
- We believe that metropolitan mission should define its priorities on the basis of need and faithful witness and not on the basis of race, ethnicity, geography, and political correctness.
- Until such time as fairness can be demonstrated by the Presbytery, our mission will demand that our dollars remain focused locally.

19. Christo-centric Focus. Several churches described their focus on ministering to the inner spiritual needs of the congregation and the community. They identified the dangers of overworking a few volunteers. The need to feed the spiritual life of members was stressed. The danger of burnout was identified. The competition for the time and energy of church members from many different loyalties was identified. The need for a strong Christo-centric emphasis was stressed. The local church is a mission field. As a letter from two pastors indicates, we need to:

- Be God-centered
- Promote biblical literacy
- Avoid historical amnesia
- Create a process of forgiveness
- Work for peace and justice
- Give significant attention to youth
- Establish a network of prayer and personal support and hospitality
- Seek factual information as basis for policy.

Presbytery 5/25/99
20. Spiritual Commitment and Advocacy. Several persons emphasized, and one person submitted a written statement focusing on: (a) Witnessing to Christ with people in the city; (b) Being more prayerful in our vision and planning for mission; (c) Speaking out more clearly of our faith in connection with specific mission action and projects. The centrality of worship and the connection of inner Christian spirituality with our outward social witness were stressed by many persons. Mission begins in worship and is sustained by worship.

21. Celebrate Past Accomplishments. Several persons urged the Committee to remember, appreciate, and learn from a number of very significant past and current initiatives, including: the annual Martin Luther King, Jr. Convocation, the African-American Mentoring Program, the Women of Color Conference, the Hunger-Action Program, the new Anti-Racism Team, and other positive developments.

22. Church-sponsored Community School. Encourage and promote an alternative K-6 school to serve children, based in a church, open to the public, with emphasis on academic excellence, and creating a positive, nurturing, safe learning environment for children. The idea is to provide the community school in neighborhoods where the evidence shows that the public school has failed to offer good quality education for a long time. The proposal is presented as a matter of justice for children who are victimized during the long struggle to improve the public schools.

A CONCLUDING WORD

Many of the concerns and proposals advocated in the three Open Hearings are most appropriately in the domain of committees other than Metropolitan Mission.

It is the hope of the Metropolitan Mission Committee that congregations and other committees of Presbytery will find ideas and suggestions in this Report that may be useful and that they will take initiative to implement such ideas as may be appropriate.

As the Presbytery moves ahead into the next century, we believe the most important thing is to stimulate new vision, promote local initiative, and encourage churches and Presbytery units to try new ideas focused on the future.

Upon motion of the Committee, Presbytery approved the following:

1. That the Report be received by the Presbytery and copies be distributed to the churches, clerks of session, ministers, and the committees of Presbytery.

The following resolutions, included in the report, were moved by the committee. Upon motion, these were postponed to the June meeting of Presbytery:

2. That the Presbytery authorize the Metropolitan Mission Committee to respond to items numbered 1, 2, and 5 by creating a Metro Mission Web Page as part of the Presbytery's Web Page; by publishing a Metro Mission News Bulletin and distributing it to Presbytery four times a year; and publishing a Volunteer Service Directory for the churches once a year.

3. That the Presbytery authorize the Metropolitan Mission Committee to respond to items 6, 9, and 18 by planning and carrying out a Consultation of Urban Churches during the year 2000 to include all churches in the Presbytery that are interested in participating. The focus will be on urban challenges faced by suburban and city congregations, with emphasis on stimulating local initiatives.

4. That items 4 and 10 on the Redevelopment of First Presbyterian Church in Detroit and the creation of a spiritual life center be referred to the Committee on Church Strategy and the Committee on Property and Investments for study and report back to Presbytery during the year 2000.

Presbytery 5/25/99

5. That items 3, 12, 13, and 22 dealing with educational matters be referred to the Committee on Education and Nurture, for study and report back to Presbytery during the year 2000.

6. That item 11 dealing with culturally appropriate evangelism be referred to the Committee on Evangelism for implementation with progress report during the year 2000.

Council (Again)

Deborah Kerr reported for Council. Upon motion of Council, Presbytery voted to:

1. Approve a loan of up to $10,000 at the current interest rate of 5.75% to Abundant Life Christian Center (the purchaser of the former Calvary Church building on Grand River) to pay for asbestos removal cost incurred with Asbestos & Lead Abatement of Michigan, Inc., if the Property & Investments Committee deems the loan to be appropriate after completing its review of the matter.

2. Approve authorizing payment of up to $1,000 to attorney Beth Gotthelf for her opinions regarding matters related to the mortgage payoff by Abundant Life Christian Center.

CHARGE, DEDICATION, AND ADJOURNMENT

There being no further business to come before the Presbytery, a motion was approved to adjourn with prayer by the Moderator at 8:10 p.m.

The next stated meeting of the Presbytery will convene Tuesday June 29 (FIFTH TUESDAY), at Northville First Presbyterian Church at 5:30 p.m.

church to move from the Christendom model of church to a church where the apostolic mission proclamation of the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

MOTIONS FROM THE FLOOR

The Metropolitan Mission Committee recommends that the Presbytery endorse the renewal of the funding request in the amount of $6,000 from the Presbyterian Hunger Program for Artheilla Thompson, for the position of Hunger Action Enabler in the Presbytery of Detroit for the year 2000. This endorsement to be forwarded to the Synod of the Covenant and the Presbyterian Hunger Program of General Assembly for their respective consideration.

The following motions postponed at the May meeting of Presbytery were placed on the floor. The motions refer items of the Metropolitan Mission Report that are reported in the minutes of the May 25, 1999 meeting of Presbytery.

A motion to postpone the motions until the October meeting of Presbytery was defeated.

After debate, the motions were approved seriatim.

That the Presbytery authorize the Metropolitan Mission Committee to respond to items numbered 1, 2, and 5 by creating a Metro Mission Web Page as part of the Presbytery’s Web Page; by publishing a Metro Mission News Bulletin and distributing it to Presbytery four times a year; and publishing a Volunteer Service Directory for the churches once a year.

The report of the Task Force on Building Ownership and Commitment is as follows:

Report of the Task Force on Building Ownership and Commitment

Presbytery of Detroit

Presented on Tuesday, May 11, 1999

THE PROCESS

In September of 1997, The Church Financial Campaign Service conducted a feasibility study. The study was designed to discover attitudes and commitments to the proposed mission projects found in the Presbytery’s Mission Direction: Toward The Year 2000. One of the final recommendations stated that the Presbytery of Detroit needed to develop and plan a comprehensive strategy of building ownership and commitment to our mission vision across the presbytery. A task force of nine persons was appointed to accomplish this task and report back to the council in March of 1999.

OUR CONTEXT
Societal and Church Context

In his trilogy of books, Loren Mead of the Alban Institute describes the dominant paradigm or understanding of the Church as the Christendom paradigm. Since the time of Constantine, says Meade, the church and the culture shared the same set of values. In most, if not all instances, the church as the dominant institution in society shaped the values of the culture.

That has been changing throughout the 20th Century, however, and we are becoming increasingly aware that the church has been marginalized. The Church which began at the margins of the Roman world, moved in the 4th Century to the very center of Western society, has now once again been pushed to the margins of society just as it was in the early centuries following Christ.

This is only half of the story. As Alan J. Roxburgh puts it:

> Not only is the Christianity we have known in crisis but the modern world itself is in crisis of immense proportions. Here too we are undergoing a metamorphosis a literal change in form. We describe this as a shift from a modern to a postmodern world. The post side says that something is over but we still don't know what to call the emerging future. We can discern its shape. In Europe this change is already advanced. In North America we are in the early days. But there is no getting past the fact that our world is becoming radically different.

Writing on the same subject, Stephen Toulman says:

> We must reconcile ourselves to a paradoxical-sounding thought: namely, the thought that we no longer live in the modern world. The modern world is now a thing of the past. It is rapidly engaged in becoming postmodern. The world has not yet discovered how to define itself in terms of what is, but only in terms of what has just-now ceased to be.

We find these dual lenses - the end of functional Christendom, and the end of the modern world - to be instructive in understanding the dilemma and plight of the Church in North America at the end of the 20th Century, including the Presbyterian Church (USA) and the Presbytery of Detroit. We are all reeling from the radical changes that have taken place in our lifetimes with the ending of these two worlds. We find ourselves in a state of transition that has engulfed us and our world. We are moving from one world into another. The church at all levels is going through a crisis of identity. This is especially so for those who find themselves in leadership. We now must continually explain who we are and why we believe what we believe, to people who are inside the church itself. The rules of denominational identity and the words that used to carry their own, self-evident meaning to people are eroding or disappearing. A world has ended, its ways no longer hold, the center has moved, all seems to be in flux. We find ourselves wandering in the fog of transition; unsure of our footing in a time when it seems that the Church we thought was built on a solid foundation now appears to be built on sand that is shifting with the movement of these tectonic plates of the society called Christendom and Modernity.

Much of what we heard in our interviews and focus group hearings around the presbytery reflects the anxiety resulting from the end of functional Christendom and the end of the Modern World.

An Historical Perspective on the Presbytery of Detroit

The Presbytery of Detroit as we experience it and know it today has been heavily influenced by several historical factors which date back into the first part of the 20th Century. These factors have had such a powerful influence in the presbytery's genetic structure that a momentum has been created toward the status quo that has largely neutralized various efforts over the years to move the presbytery in significantly different styles of operation and organizational structure.

Between 1972 and 1974, the former United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. restructured itself to provide for larger presbyteries, sixteen regional synods that no longer followed state lines, and an Executive Presbyter in every presbytery. Prior to that time, most presbyteries had no staff beyond a volunteer or part-time Stated Clerk. The metropolitan Detroit

Area, however, was quite accustomed to having a relatively large number of staff persons who served a rather large committee structure. This was possible because the Synod of Michigan staff and offices that were located in Detroit served also as the staff and offices of the Presbytery of Detroit.

In the early 1970s, some members of the executive staff served part-time as Executive Presbyters for the other Michigan presbyteries; they were based in Detroit and spent most of their time in Detroit. As a result, their presence was quite evident to churches in the Presbytery of Detroit.

The net effect of this history within the Presbytery of Detroit has resulted in expectations that the presbytery will continue to have a sizable staff whose primary purpose is to resource a sizable committee structure. In fact, until 1993, Associate staff positions were titled basically in accord with the units or committees with which they worked. Between 1991 and 1993, however, the presbytery staff was reduced in part because of pressure from a group of pastors within the presbytery, and in part because of declining mission support.

Because of the momentum mentioned above, the presbytery's organizational structure and number of committees remained constant and even grew, in spite of the fact that there were significantly fewer staff people to resource those committees. This has resulted in frustration for those serving on committees and for the staff members because of conflicting expectations in light of the number of staff available.

NEXT STEPS

As this task force met and discussed our task, we decided that interviews and open forums would be the most productive way for us to gather the additional information needed. A series of questions were developed that could be used in both the open forums and the interviews. We assembled a list of names mirroring our diversity and each person was asked to interview three persons. The questions asked were:

1. What is God calling our Presbytery to be and become?
2. What is God calling our Presbytery to do?
3. Are there any gaps between what you have said and what is being done?
4. What needs to happen to make this a reality?
5. How can Presbytery nurture and support you in your ministry or congregation?
6. Do you have anything else you would like to share with us?

With this new information added to the previous work done, we were ready to assemble our data. After much prayer, thought and discussion, we are ready to share our findings and recommendations with the council.

OUR FINDINGS

Our findings are amazingly consistent among all respondents. As a result of the interviews and hearings, the task force was able to identify the following as strongly held perceptions and commonly recurring themes. These findings are in no particular order.

FINDING:

Alienation and isolation of clergy and congregations in the presbytery

The need for relationship building appeared over and over as people described their experiences in the presbytery. Many felt that the presbytery should be a place where people can recognize and affirm their connectedness, and should be a model for what it means to live together as friends and colleagues in Christian community. Yet, in actuality, few congregations or clergy have formed friendships, or even know each other at all. Even presbytery committees tend to work in isolation rather than coordinating their efforts. The presbytery was mentioned as a cold place in which to work.

Many people were of the opinion that a bureaucratic structure, the current form of the presbytery meetings and the role of staff actually work against relationship-building, yet that building healthy relationships is a necessary first step to being able to do ministry together. The presbytery should lead by example through living the communal life to which God calls us.

This presbytery is not considered to be user friendly. New clergy to the presbytery find it particularly hard to make their way into the system. Others expressed the feeling that they are lost in the bureaucracy. Elders are uncomfortable at presbytery meetings that are seen as boring, non-participatory, excessively long and often clergy dominated. Poor communication within the Presbytery was cited as a problem by many of those interviewed.

Detroit Presbytery is perceived to operate in a corporate model of ministry influenced by the corporate environment generated by its proximity to the Big Three auto makers. With that, it is perceived that within that framework, the presbytery staff has more of an administrative than a pastoral role. This feeds into churches and clergy feeling uncared for and isolated and the question becomes: Does presbytery even know us or what we do? Some congregations primarily see presbytery as the group that will appear with instructions when there is a problem. Having a staff that models a relationship building ministry appears to be highly important. Congregations feel the need to see presbytery leaders within the life of the congregation occasionally so that the presbytery is not perceived as only showing up when it has an agenda.

FINDING:

Lack of support and care for clergy and congregations

One thing we discovered was that there is a perception that many congregations are doing exciting things in ministry, but the presbytery appears uninterested in knowing what those are or in celebrating their efforts. Instead of the presbytery serving as a supportive resource for the mission efforts of its congregations and clergy, the presbytery appears, according to those with whom we spoke, uninterested in knowing what those exciting efforts and ministries are, or in celebrating their accomplishments. Instead of the presbytery serving as a supportive resource for the mission efforts of its congregations and clergy, the presbytery is viewed as expecting churches to serve its bureaucratic structure. This is a perception common to congregations regardless of size.

According to those clergy and laity responding, the nurture and strengthening of existing congregations in the Detroit Presbytery is of utmost concern. Congregations could support each other or form partnerships; yet, the perception is that at the present time, there is no clearinghouse or vehicle to facilitate that. Our interviews found strong support for churches in the presbytery working together in sharing resources, ideas, gifts and skills, mission outreach and innovative ministries. It also appears that clergy and congregations are not asking for more presbytery workshops, but for the presbytery to facilitate more opportunities to connect with churches and leaders doing effective cutting-edge ministry within the presbytery, the Presbyterian Church, (USA) and beyond.

Care and support of pastors is critical to the health of congregations. Appreciation was expressed for ways that it is now happening, in spite of decreased staff in the last ten years. There is also recognition that the primary function of the staff as it is now configured is primarily administrative rather than pastoral.

FINDING:

Lack of respect for those with whom we differ

While diversity (race, ethnicity, urban, suburban, exurban, large church, small church, male, female, clergy, lay) can be challenging and exciting and can cause growth, according to those responding, it seems to foster judgmentalism and disrespect in Detroit Presbytery. The atmosphere of meetings (both Presbytery and committee meetings) was described as frequently contentious. Such an atmosphere seems to discourage some people from wanting to be involved, and causes others to feel disenfranchised.

In a culture where diversity often does lead to attitudes of disrespect, the church should be a model of what it means to be the body of Christ living together as friends and colleagues even when there are disagreements on issues. A recurring theme in the responses was to listen to each other.

FINDING:

Lack of civility and mutual accountability

A common thread running through the responses was the observation that disagreements over issues quickly become contentious and personally directed. One person said that we should all hold up the mirror and see if we are the image of Christ in our relationships. Another asked: Is this presbytery really what the realm of God looks like? Someone else stated: We must learn to live out what it means to love one another. There is a perception that when the confrontational style surfaces at presbytery gatherings it often leads to people being humiliated and discounted when they express an opinion, resulting in many remaining silent. Mutual accountability gets confused with judgmentalism, so seldom is uncivil behavior challenged or people held accountable for disrespectfulness in a straightforward and loving way. Such behavior then becomes acceptable by default.

FINDING:

Distrust of each other and the systems

Distrust grows in systems where there is unhealthy, unaddressed conflict. A strong theme in the responses was a recognition of unhealthy conflict in the presbytery. Many spoke of Detroit Presbytery as being different from others with which the respondents were familiar in that the system appears rife with political maneuvering and agendas. Some said that the presbytery is not a safe place in which to share ideas and concerns, because of a perception that presbytery is divided into camps and one might offend one of the camps (gender, race, urban, suburban, exurban, large church, small church, male, female, clergy, lay). It was also quite astonishing to note that a clear message from all that responded was that EVERYONE, regardless of their background, felt discriminated against. There is a belief that staff rarely gets acknowledged for their hard work, but are criticized and pictured as trying to align themselves with one cause or another. Church Sessions often experience presbytery visits in a negative, distrustful way. In a system of such high anxiety it becomes typical to focus blame on particular people or situations as the scapegoat for all the dissatisfaction.

FINDING:

Need for healthy conflict norms that apply equally to all

Help is needed to develop agreed-upon behavior norms for everyone to use when addressing the inevitable disagreements that will surface in such a diverse presbytery. Such norms are necessary to foster mutual forbearance, mutual accountability, respect and civility as presbyters do the work of Christ together. The focus should not be on proving one another right or wrong, but on the substantive issues and processes for becoming a community united in a common ministry. This is undoubtedly a growing edge for the entire presbytery.

There was concern that unhealthy internal conflict in the presbytery may be long-standing and will require long-term efforts toward reconciliation with an outside consultant.

FINDING:

Difficulties arise from being a heterogeneous, multicultural diverse body

A divergent world produces underlying issues and views that can lead to miscommunication and misunderstanding. Detroit Presbytery contains great diversity. Theological and racial/ethnic diversity is usually acknowledged, but differences in size and social environment of churches are also factors that are less openly recognized. In addition, since the Christian church does not exist in a vacuum, it increasingly finds itself in a culture of individualism, entitlement, compartmentalization, racism and alienation. These influence how we behave with one another in congregations and presbytery, yet they also run directly counter to the gospel of Jesus Christ.

The perceived problem is not diversity in and of itself, but rather the way in which it is often approached in the presbytery. It was suggested that a way of coping with the inevitable tensions of diversity has been to try to get the body of presbytery on board with my way of thinking. While there is a natural tendency to push ones own viewpoints, healthy diversity can and should live in the tension of differences. There is a need to replace an atmosphere of competition, judgment, and disrespect with an openness to the Holy Spirit who creates unity in diversity. It was suggested that this become a permission-giving presbytery in which congregations and clergy would be encouraged to exercise their unique gifts and ministries. Outstanding and innovative projects would be recognized and appreciated by the body.

It was suggested that none of us are baptized into an issue, but into a ministry, and these may be different ministries but the same Lord. There is a strong interest in re-focusing on our mutual loyalty to Jesus Christ. Shared prayer and spiritual discernment was often identified as needing to be central to the workings of the presbytery, as was spiritual leadership.

FINDING:

Presbytery 6/25/99
A sense that the presbytery is unfocused and trying to do too many things

While there is an increasing conviction that God may be calling the Church to a new reformation, Detroit Presbytery is working with the inherited top-heavy bureaucratic structure and mode of the Presbyterian Church of the 1950s and 60s. This way of doing presbytery worked well during that time, but is less relevant today, and in fact, many congregations in the presbytery already have recognized the need for a different, more focused style of ministry and are implementing that in their churches.

It was suggested that Presbytery should no longer perceive itself as an extension of the local congregation or as a model of how to do things better than the local church. Pastors and churches now tend to look to national innovators, places where effective ministry is taking place, selective seminars and even the Internet for ideas and professional development. Many local congregations are engaged in exciting and innovative Christian education, youth ministry and mission outreach, etc.

From what we heard, it seems that a tremendous amount of peoples energy presently goes in to keeping presbytery committees going and maintaining an organizational structure that, in many instances, duplicates the work of the local church. There was the sense that presbytery needs to have less work, but more purposeful work. The presbytery should develop the capacity to provide substantive pastoral and spiritual leadership to support clergy and local church leaders in their ministries. Those responding expressed a desire for staff positions to reflect a more pastoral leadership style rather than the perceived bureaucratic administrative style. Resourcing of churches should be done on an individual need level and through ways other than presbytery committees. Presbytery should have a facilitator role in helping congregations meet todays challenges as Christ calls the Church to newness. It should have a visionary role in making Christs presence felt in the area it serves.

The perception is that presbytery needs to develop a shorter, more concise mission/vision statement which is accessible, understandable and realistic, and this should be the touchstone for all its work. Better communication would keep the mission/vision of the presbytery before the congregations and pastors.

RECOMMENDATIONS

As the Task Force listened to the suggestion and comments of those interviewed, and as we assessed the level of dissatisfaction within the body of the presbytery, we became convinced that what the presbytery is currently doing doesnt work. Therefore, we make the following recommendations:

Provide conflict resolution training experiences for Council/Pastors/Presbyters with an outside consultant to help us establish healthy conflict norms

We found that one of the chief underlying obstacles to building community and resolving conflict is norms in our life together that actually perpetuate conflict, keep conflict from healthy resolution, or put conflict out of reach so it cannot be resolved. We need to discover, name and evaluate our current, unwritten rules for dealing with conflict and change those that are not healthy and in keeping with our Christian faith. Until this is done no number of task forces on resolving differences, healing hurt, etc. will be successful. As in the case of arbitration and escalated conflict, it is absolutely essential that an outside consultant be brought in to walk our presbytery through this process if it is to bear fruit.

Redesign the Presbytery Council

As we formulated the input we received, it became clear that the Presbytery of Detroit needs a person or group that keeps in front of all of us our goal and mission. We recommend that the Presbytery Council be redesigned to do just that. Their responsibility would be solely to develop a more concise and focused mission/vision statement that is brief and accessible to all Presbyterians and insure that it is carried out in the practice of our life together through structure, budget and staff.

We propose that the presbytery council be redesigned as follows:

• Composition:
The Presbytery Council will be comprised of 18 members, elected to three equal three-year classes, to serve no more than six (6) consecutive years, which serve in no other capacity within the Presbytery. The Chair of the Presbytery Council would be elected annually from within its membership of 18 and could serve for up to three consecutive years as chair. The Moderator and Vice-Moderator of presbytery, the Treasurer, Stated Clerk, and Executive Staff (presently the Executive Presbyter, Associate Presbyter, Director for Outdoor Ministries, and Administrator for Business Affairs) would serve as ex officio members of the Council without vote.

- Responsibilities:
  The Presbytery Council will be responsible for developing and proposing to the presbytery for adoption, a vision which establishes the direction for the presbytery's work, including goals and outcomes to be achieved. The Presbytery Council will serve as the custodian of the presbytery's vision and direction, taking the necessary actions to insure its accomplishment. The Council will therefore:
  - Facilitate the creation of work plans to implement the presbytery's vision and direction, establishing such team-based task forces, mission teams, and engaging consultants as may be required to carry out the work plans.
  - Evaluate and direct the work of the presbytery staff in light of the presbytery's vision and direction.
  - Develop and propose to the presbytery an annual budget that is consistent with and provides for the implementation of the presbytery's vision and direction.
  - Assess the total performance of the presbytery based upon the goals and outcomes of the presbytery's vision and direction, taking appropriate actions as necessary to insure the accomplishment of those goals and outcomes.
  - Establish the time, place and docket for Stated Meetings of Presbytery.
  - To facilitate two-way communication to the churches of the presbytery, with each council member serving as liaison to 5 or 6 churches to which they would make annual or semiannual visits.
  - In addition, the Presbytery Council may be delegated the authority to act on behalf of the presbytery in matters related to its responsibilities between Stated Meetings of the Presbytery.

In light of this proposed redesign of the Presbytery Council, the following recommendations would be made:

1. Dissolve the current Council Committees on Budget & Finance, Staff Services and Planning & Structure since their work would now fall under the Council which is free to organize itself into work teams and/or short term task groups as it would determine.
2. Make the Property and Investments Committee a standing committee of the presbytery and elect them as the corporate Trustees.
3. Create a Worship Team to plan worship for Stated Meetings of Presbytery. This team would be comprised of the Moderator and Vice-Moderator of presbytery plus up to five additional members (with expertise in worship and music) elected from the presbytery at-large.

Build relationships among clergy and congregations

We propose taking concrete steps toward building relationships among clergy and congregations within the Presbytery. We believe this is essential to building trust within the presbytery while at the same time helping the presbytery become a place where people can recognize and affirm their connectedness as friends and colleagues in Christian community. Building healthy relationships is also a critical and necessary step toward being able to actually do ministry together. We believe the presbytery should be a living example of what it means to live the communal life to which God calls us as the Body of Christ. We propose restructuring our presbytery meetings to reflect what our purpose and mission are, as well as what is most important in our life together and what will best help us accomplish our mission together and as individual congregations. This focus will help our meetings be meaningful and productive, and avoid getting side tracked.

To that end we suggest that we alter the time frame (max. 2 hrs), the format and location of stated meetings of Presbytery to provide for:

- spiritual nurture
- real fellowship
- networking and resource sharing among congregations
- consider alternate environments for presbytery meetings that are consistent with what we are doing

The proposed time limit is a result of the information we gathered. It seems that after two hours people lose their focus, frustration levels increase and productive discussion and decisions diminish significantly. Some perceive sanctuaries as a place where clergy talk and elders are silent. We propose considering meeting in places other than sanctuaries (at least some of the time), to see if this will significantly change the dynamics of our meetings.

Change to a more effective means of supporting and resourcing congregations

As we noted earlier, the widely held perception is that much of what the presbytery does is busy work. There is a great amount of administration that seems to be done by a committee of the whole. Committees are over loaded and set upon many administrative tasks that are seen as tedious and off topic. As a result of these perceptions, we feel that the Presbytery of Detroit should:

- use standing committees only for ecclesiastical and administrative functions mandated by the constitution of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A)
- use short-term, team-based Task Forces to carry out the vision and mission of the presbytery

There is wide spread frustration with committees meeting frequently while significant outcomes as a result of those meetings is perceived to be more of the exception rather than the rule. Moving to short-term, team-based Task Forces would necessitate that meetings have a specific purpose with a specific desired outcome within a specific time frame. Once that outcome is achieved the Task Force would cease to exist. This would not only be a more productive means of accomplishing tasks, but would encourage others to be more likely to participate both because of the clearly defined purpose of the group and the shorter time commitment required.

We also feel that the Presbytery of Detroit should:

- Commit budget funds to provide advanced training for clergy in congregational development
- Recruit, train and deploy cadres of program consultants to assist and support congregations directly

Instead of researching and creating events that we hope will meet the needs of our clergy, elders and churches, and then spending a great deal of energy trying to persuade people to come, this approach would meet the needs of clergy and churches directly. Instead of trying to create events, programs, etc. that are generalized enough to have mass appeal this would personalize our support and care of our clergy and churches and in the process be more effective. This approach would allow much less time to be spent in administration, more time in productive ministry.

- recognize we live in a culture of entitlement and individualism which runs counter to the Christian vision of community
- have presbytery leadership and staff intentionally focus on and lift up Jesus Christ as the source of our unity
- redirect staff time and priorities to pastoral care and support of congregation above that of maintenance and administration of presbytery structure

We believe that if we are to build a sense of community, caring and mission this has to be modeled by the leadership or it will not happen. We cannot ask presbytery staff to act one way and the members of our presbytery to act out a completely different paradigm. This means redefining staff positions so that they lead us in accomplishing our Presbytery's mission and vision.
This is also necessary to protect staff from conflicting and unrealistic expectations. Staff would be asked to:

- be a clearing house for and facilitate the sharing of information between congregations and the denomination and among congregations by improving the means (e.g., electronic, written, oral and video) content (networking and broker resource partnerships) focus of communication (e.g., support and resource congregations)

This is necessary to carry out the previously listed recommendations effectively.

In addition, we recommend that the Presbytery of Detroit:

Declare the Year 2000 a Year of Jubilee In the Presbytery of Detroit

In the Old Testament (Leviticus), the Jubilee Year occurred every fiftieth year. It originated out of the concept that every seventh year the land was to lie fallow to rest. After seven times seven Sabbaths, the fiftieth year was the Year of Jubilee in which debts were to be forgiven. All land that was held for debts was to be returned to the person who sold it because of difficulty; and those who sold them selves into servitude because of difficulty were to be released with their families from service.

The Year of Jubilee was a time of rest and forgiveness; a time of new beginnings.

In the spirit of new beginnings, we propose that the Presbytery of Detroit observe a Year of Jubilee in the Year 2000, during which:

- A moratorium is declared on the work of all committees except those that are ecclesiastical and corporate (trustees); and that where necessary, the Presbytery Council make arrangements for work/mission teams to oversee ongoing mission work (like Barnabas Youth Opportunities Center, Grandale Mission Center, New Church Developments, Church Redevelopments, etc.).
- The presbytery staff, especially the Executive Presbyter and the Associate Executive Presbyter, focus their work less on administration and resourcing committees and more on pastoral care of congregations and clergy; and the support, visitation, and consultation with clergy and congregations.
- The Presbytery engages an outside consulting firm with experience working with nonprofit organizations to work with the Council and the Presbytery to develop a strategic plan for the future; and that the cost of this consultation be funded by the reallocation of the budgets of committees whose operations are suspended for the Year of Jubilee.

CONCLUSION

As we were commissioned our job was to develop a plan that could be put into place that would help members of the Presbytery of Detroit Build Ownership and Commitment to our Mission as a Presbytery. We feel that this report and recommendations can be a guide to making that happen. We have deliberated at length. We have sought the no-holds-barred input of a cross section of presbytery leaders and concerned Presbyterians. As we delved deeper into the thoughts and concerns lingering in the background, we discovered that our task would not be simple, nor would the recommendations always be easy to hear. Yet, we truly believe that if the Church of Jesus Christ called Presbyterian is to continue with strength and vitality in Detroit and the surrounding area, measures that to some might seem extreme must be undertaken. It is said that the system is designed to get the results that it is currently getting. In order to get different results, we must change the system. These recommendations would do precisely that. We invite you to embrace a new system and pray that the results will be the catalyst to help us move into the future.

III. REPORTS OF OFFICERS

The Stated Clerk presented the minutes of the meetings May 11 and May 25, 1999 for approval. Upon motion, Council approved the minutes.

PRIOR-DOCKETED ITEMS

The following motion, postponed from the May 11 meeting of Council, was placed on the floor and debated by Council for 90 minutes:

Council 6/8/99
To adopt the report of the Task Force on Building Ownership and Commitment.

After the question was called, Council adopted the Report without amendment: Francile Anderson and Kenneth Smith requested that their negative votes be recorded.

Report of the Task Force on Building Ownership and Commitment

Presbytery of Detroit

Presented on Tuesday, May 11, 1999

THE PROCESS

In September of 1997, The Church Financial Campaign Service conducted a feasibility study. The study was designed to discover attitudes and commitments to the proposed mission projects found in the Presbytery’s Mission Direction: Toward The Year 2000. One of the final recommendations stated that the Presbytery of Detroit needed to develop and plan a comprehensive strategy of building ownership and commitment to our mission vision across the presbytery. A task force of nine persons was appointed to accomplish this task and report back to the council in March of 1999.

OUR CONTEXT

Societal and Church Context

In his trilogy of books, Loren Mead of the Alban Institute describes the dominant paradigm or understanding of the Church as the Christendom paradigm. Since the time of Constantine, says Meade, the church and the culture shared the same set of values. In most, if not all instances, the church as the dominant institution in society shaped the values of the culture.

That has been changing throughout the 20th Century, however, and we are becoming increasingly aware that the church has been marginalized. The Church which began at the margins of the Roman world, moved in the 4th Century to the very center of Western society, has now once again been pushed to the margins of society just as it was in the early centuries following Christ.

This is only half of the story. As Alan J. Roxburgh puts it:

> Not only is the Christianity we have known in crisis but the modern world itself is in crisis of immense proportions. Here too we are undergoing a metamorphosis - a literal change in form. We describe this as a shift from a modern to a postmodern world. The post side says that something is over but we still don't know what to call the emerging future. We can discern its shape. In Europe this change is already advanced. In North America we are in the early days. But there is no getting past the fact that our world is becoming radically different.

Writing on the same subject, Stephen Toulman says:

> We must reconcile ourselves to a paradoxical-sounding thought: namely, the thought that we no longer live in the modern world. The modern world is now a thing of the past it is rapidly engaged in becoming postmodern the world has not yet discovered how to define itself in terms of what is, but only in terms of what has just-now ceased to be.

We find these dual lenses - the end of functional Christendom, and the end of the modern world - to be instructive in understanding the dilemma and plight of the Church in North America at the end of the 20th Century, including the Presbyterian Church (USA) and the Presbytery of Detroit. We are all reeling from the radical changes that have taken place in our lifetimes with the ending of these two worlds. We find ourselves in a state of transition that has engulfed us and our world. We are moving from one world into another. The church at all levels is going through a crisis of identity. This is especially so for those who find themselves in leadership. We now must continually explain who we are and why we believe what we believe, to people who are inside the church itself. The rules of denominational identity and the words that used to carry their own, self-evident meaning to people are eroding or disappearing. A world has ended, its ways no longer hold, the center has moved, all seems to be in flux. We find ourselves wandering in the fog of transition; unsure of our footing in a time when it seems that the Church we thought was built on a solid foundation now appears to be built on sand that is shifting with the movement of these tectonic plates of the society called Christendom and Modernity.

Much of what we heard in our interviews and focus group hearings around the presbytery reflects the anxiety resulting from the end of functional Christendom and the end of the Modern World.

Council 6/8/99
An Historical Perspective on the Presbytery of Detroit

The Presbytery of Detroit as we experience it and know it today has been heavily influenced by several historical factors which date back into the first part of the 20th Century. These factors have had such a powerful influence in the presbytery's genetic structure that a momentum has been created toward the status quo that has largely neutralized various efforts over the years to move the presbytery in significantly different styles of operation and organizational structure.

Between 1972 and 1974, the former United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. restructured itself to provide for larger presbyteries, sixteen regional synods that no longer followed state lines, and an Executive Presbyter in every presbytery. Prior to that time, most presbyteries had no staff beyond a volunteer or part-time Stated Clerk. The metropolitan Detroit Area, however, was quite accustomed to having a relatively large number of staff persons who served a rather large committee structure. This was possible because the Synod of Michigan staff and offices that were located in Detroit served also as the staff and offices of the Presbytery of Detroit.

In the early 1970s, some members of the executive staff served part-time as Executive Presbyters for the other Michigan presbyteries; they were based in Detroit and spent most of their time in Detroit. As a result, their presence was quite evident to churches in the Presbytery of Detroit. The net effect of this history within the Presbytery of Detroit has resulted in expectations that the presbytery will continue to have a sizable staff whose primary purpose is to resource a sizable committee structure. In fact, until 1993, Associate staff positions were titled basically in accord with the units or committees with which they worked. Between 1991 and 1993, however, the presbytery staff was reduced in part because of pressure from a group of pastors within the presbytery, and in part because of declining mission support.

Because of the momentum mentioned above, the presbytery's organizational structure and number of committees remained constant and even grew, in spite of the fact that there were significantly fewer staff people to resource those committees. This has resulted in frustration for those serving on committees and for the staff members because of conflicting expectations in light of the number of staff available.

NEXT STEPS

As this task force met and discussed our task, we decided that interviews and open forums would be the most productive way for us to gather the additional information needed. A series of questions were developed that could be used in both the open forums and the interviews. We assembled a list of names mirroring our diversity and each person was asked to interview three persons. The questions asked were:
1. What is God calling our Presbytery to be and become?
2. What is God calling our Presbytery to do?
3. Are there any gaps between what you have said and what is being done?
4. What needs to happen to make this a reality?
5. How can Presbytery nurture and support you in your ministry or congregation?
6. Do you have anything else you would like to share with us?

With this new information added to the previous work done, we were ready to assemble our data. After much prayer, thought and discussion, we are ready to share our findings and recommendations with the council.

OUR FINDINGS

Our findings are amazingly consistent among all respondents. As a result of the interviews and hearings, the task force was able to identify the following as strongly held perceptions and commonly recurring themes. These findings are in no particular order.

FINDING: Alienation and isolation of clergy and congregations in the presbytery

The need for relationship building appeared over and over as people described their experiences in the presbytery. Many felt that the presbytery should be a place where people can recognize and affirm their connectedness, and should be a model for what it means to live together as friends and colleagues in Christian community. Yet, in actuality, few congregations or clergy have formed friendships, or even know each other at all. Even presbytery committees tend to work in isolation rather than coordinating their efforts. The presbytery was mentioned as a cold place in which to work.

Many people were of the opinion that a bureaucratic structure, the current form of the presbytery meetings and the role of staff actually work against relationship-building, yet that building healthy relationships is a necessary first step to being able to do ministry together. The presbytery should lead by example through living the communal life to which God calls us.

Council 6/8/99

This presbytery is not considered to be user friendly. New clergy to the presbytery find it particularly hard to make their way into the system. Others expressed the feeling that they are lost in the bureaucracy. Elders are uncomfortable at presbytery meetings that are seen as boring, non-participatory, excessively long and often clergy dominated. Poor communication within the Presbytery was cited as a problem by many of those interviewed.

Detroit Presbytery is perceived to operate in a corporate model of ministry influenced by the corporate environment generated by its proximity to the Big Three auto makers. With that, it is perceived that within that framework, the presbytery staff has more of an administrative than a pastoral role. This feeds into churches and clergy feeling uncared for and isolated and the question becomes: Does presbytery even know us or what we do? Some congregations primarily see presbytery as the group that will appear with instructions when there is a problem. Having a staff that models a relationship building ministry appears to be highly important. Congregations feel the need to see presbytery leaders within the life of the congregation occasionally so that the presbytery is not perceived as only showing up when it has an agenda.

FINDING:
Lack of support and care for clergy and congregations

One thing we discovered was that there is a perception that many congregations are doing exciting things in ministry, but the presbytery appears uninterested in knowing what those are or in celebrating their efforts. Instead of the presbytery serving as a supportive resource for the mission efforts of its congregations and clergy, the presbytery appears, according to those with whom we spoke, uninterested in knowing what those exciting efforts and ministries are, or in celebrating their accomplishments. Instead of the presbytery serving as a supportive resource for the mission efforts of its congregations and clergy, the presbytery is viewed as expecting churches to serve its bureaucratic structure. This is a perception common to congregations regardless of size.

According to those clergy and laity responding, the nurture and strengthening of existing congregations in the Detroit Presbytery is of utmost concern. Congregations could support each other or form partnerships; yet, the perception is that at the present time, there is no clearinghouse or vehicle to facilitate that. Our interviews found strong support for churches in the presbytery working together in sharing resources, ideas, gifts and skills, mission outreach and innovative ministries. It also appears that clergy and congregations are not asking for more presbytery workshops, but for the presbytery to facilitate more opportunities to connect with churches and leaders doing effective cutting-edge ministry within the presbytery, the Presbyterian Church, (USA) and beyond.

Care and support of pastors is critical to the health of congregations. Appreciation was expressed for ways that it is now happening, in spite of decreased staff in the last ten years. There is also recognition that the primary function of the staff as it is now configured is primarily administrative rather than pastoral.

FINDING:
Lack of respect for those with whom we differ

While diversity (race, ethnicity, urban, suburban, exurban, large church, small church, male, female, clergy, lay) can be challenging and exciting and can cause growth, according to those responding, it seems to foster judgmentalism and disrespect in Detroit Presbytery. The atmosphere of meetings (both Presbytery and committee meetings) was described as frequently contentious. Such an atmosphere seems to discourage some people from wanting to be involved, and causes others to feel disenfranchised.

In a culture where diversity often does lead to attitudes of disrespect, the church should be a model of what it means to be the body of Christ living together as friends and colleagues even when there are disagreements on issues. A recurring theme in the responses was to listen to each other.

FINDING:
Lack of civility and mutual accountability

A common thread running through the responses was the observation that disagreements over issues quickly become contentious and personally directed. One person said that we should all hold up the mirror and see if we are the image of Christ in our relationships. Another asked: Is this presbytery really what the realm of God looks like? Someone else stated: We must learn to live out what it means to love one another. There is a perception that when the confrontational style surfaces at presbytery gatherings it often leads to people being humiliated and discounted when they express an opinion, resulting in many remaining silent. Mutual accountability gets confused... with judgmentalism, so seldom is uncivil behavior challenged or people held accountable for disrespectfulness in a straightforward and loving way. Such behavior then becomes acceptable by default.

FINDING:
Distrust of each other and the systems
Distrust grows in systems where there is unhealthy, unaddressed conflict. A strong theme in the responses was a recognition of unhealthy conflict in the presbytery. Many spoke of Detroit Presbytery as being different from others with which the respondents were familiar in that the system appears rife with political maneuvering and agendas. Some said that the presbytery is not a safe place in which to share ideas and concerns, because of a perception that presbytery is divided into camps and one might offend one of the camps (gender, race, urban, suburban, exurban, large church, small church, male, female, clergy, lay). It was also quite astonishing to note that a clear message from all that responded was that EVERYONE, regardless of their background, felt discriminated against. There is a belief that staff rarely gets acknowledged for their hard work, but are criticized and pictured as trying to align themselves with one cause or another. Church Sessions often experience presbytery visits in a negative, distrustful way. In a system of such high anxiety it becomes typical to focus blame on particular people or situations as the scapegoat for all the dissatisfaction.

FINDING:
Need for healthy conflict norms that apply equally to all
Help is needed to develop agreed-upon behavior norms for everyone to use when addressing the inevitable disagreements that will surface in such a diverse presbytery. Such norms are necessary to foster mutual forbearance, mutual accountability, respect and civility as presbyters do the work of Christ together. The focus should not be on proving one another right or wrong, but on the substantive issues and processes for becoming a community united in a common ministry. This is undoubtedly a growing edge for the entire presbytery.

There was concern that unhealthy internal conflict in the presbytery may be long-standing and will require long-term efforts toward reconciliation with an outside consultant.

FINDING:
Difficulties arise from being a heterogeneous, multicultural diverse body
A divergent world produces underlying issues and views that can lead to miscommunication and misunderstanding. Detroit Presbytery contains great diversity. Theological and racial/ethnic diversity is usually acknowledged, but differences in size and social environment of churches are also factors that are less openly recognized. In addition, since the Christian church does not exist in a vacuum, it increasingly finds itself in a culture of individualism, entitlement, compartmentalization, racism and alienation. These influence how we behave with one another in congregations and presbytery, yet they also run directly counter to the gospel of Jesus Christ.

The perceived problem is not diversity in and of itself, but rather the way in which it is often approached in the presbytery. It was suggested that a way of coping with the inevitable tensions of diversity has been to try to get the body of presbytery on board with my way of thinking. While there is a natural tendency to push one's own viewpoints, healthy diversity can and should live in the tension of differences. There is a need to replace an atmosphere of competition, judgment, and disrespect with an openness to the Holy Spirit who creates unity in diversity. It was suggested that this become a permission-giving presbytery in which congregations and clergy would be encouraged to exercise their unique gifts and ministries. Outstanding and innovative projects would be recognized and appreciated by the body.

It was suggested that none of us are baptized into an issue, but into a ministry, and these may be different ministries but the same Lord. There is a strong interest in re-focusing on our mutual loyalty to Jesus Christ. Shared prayer and spiritual discernment was often identified as needing to be central to the workings of the presbytery, as was spiritual leadership.

FINDING:
A sense that the presbytery is unfocused and trying to do too many things
While there is an increasing conviction that God may be calling the Church to a new reformation, Detroit Presbytery is working with the inherited top-heavy bureaucratic structure and mode of the Presbyterian Church of the 1950s and 60s. This way of doing presbytery worked well during that time, but is less relevant today, and in fact, many congregations in the presbytery already have recognized the need for a different, more focused style of ministry and are implementing that in their churches.

It was suggested that Presbytery should no longer perceive itself as an extension of the local congregation or as a model of how to do things better than the local church. Pastors and churches now tend to look to national innovators, places where effective ministry is taking place, selective seminars and even the Internet for ideas and professional development. Many local congregations are engaged in exciting and innovative Christian education, youth ministry and mission outreach, etc.

From what we heard, it seems that a tremendous amount of people's energy presently goes into keeping presbytery committees going and maintaining an organizational structure that, in many instances, duplicates the work of the local church. There was the sense that presbytery needs to have less work, but more purposeful work. The presbytery should develop the capacity to provide substantive pastoral and spiritual leadership to support clergy and local church leaders in their ministries. Those responding expressed a desire for staff positions to reflect a more pastoral leadership style rather than the perceived bureaucratic administrative style. Resourcing of churches should be done on an individual need level and through ways other than presbytery committees.

Presbytery should have a facilitator role in helping congregations meet today's challenges as Christ calls the Church to newness. It should have a visionary role in making Christ's presence felt in the area it serves.

The perception is that presbytery needs to develop a shorter, more concise mission/vision statement which is accessible, understandable and realistic, and this should be the touchstone for all its work. Better communication would keep the mission/vision of the presbytery before the congregations and pastors.

RECOMMENDATIONS

As the Task Force listened to the suggestion and comments of those interviewed, and as we assessed the level of dissatisfaction within the body of the presbytery, we became convinced that what the presbytery is currently doing doesn't work. Therefore, we make the following recommendations:

Provide conflict resolution training experiences for Council/Pastors/Presbyters with an outside consultant to help us establish healthy conflict norms

We found that one of the chief underlying obstacles to building community and resolving conflict is norms in our life together that actually perpetuate conflict, keep conflict from healthy resolution, or put conflict out of reach so it cannot be resolved. We need to discover, name and evaluate our current, unwritten rules for dealing with conflict and change those that are not healthy and in keeping with our Christian faith. Until this is done no number of task forces on resolving differences, healing hurt, etc. will be successful. As in the case of arbitration and escalated conflict, it is absolutely essential that an outside consultant be brought in to walk our presbytery through this process if it is to bear fruit.

Redesign the Presbytery Council

As we formulated the input we received, it became clear that the Presbytery of Detroit needs a person or group that keeps in front of all of us our goal and mission. We recommend that the Presbytery Council be redesigned to do just that. Their responsibility would be solely to develop a more concise and focused mission/vision statement that is brief and accessible to all Presbyterians and insure that it is carried out in the practice of our life together through structure, budget and staff.

We propose that the presbytery council be redesigned as follows:

• Composition:

The Presbytery Council will be comprised of 18 members, elected to three equal three-year classes, to serve no more than six (6) consecutive years, which serve in no other capacity within the Presbytery. The Chair of the Presbytery Council would be elected annually from within its membership of 18 and could serve for up to three consecutive years as chair. The Moderator and Vice-Moderator of presbytery, the Treasurer, Stated Clerk, and Executive Staff (presently the Executive Presbyter, Associate Presbyter, Director for Outdoor Ministries, and Administrator for Business Affairs) would serve as ex officio members of the Council without vote.

• Responsibilities:

to be achieved. The Presbytery Council will serve as the custodian of the presbytery's vision and direction, taking the necessary actions to insure its accomplishment. The Council will therefore:

- Facilitate the creation of work plans to implement the presbytery's vision and direction, establishing such team-based task forces, mission teams, and engaging consultants as may be required to carry out the work plans.
- Evaluate and direct the work of the presbytery staff in light of the presbytery's vision and direction.
- Develop and propose to the presbytery an annual budget that is consistent with and provides for the implementation of the presbytery's vision and direction.
- Assess the total performance of the presbytery based upon the goals and outcomes of the presbytery's vision and direction, taking appropriate actions as necessary to insure the accomplishment of those goals and outcomes.
- Establish the time, place and docket for Stated Meetings of Presbytery.
- To facilitate two-way communication to the churches of the presbytery, with each council member serving as liaison to 5 or 6 churches to which they would make annual or semiannual visits.
- In addition, the Presbytery Council may be delegated the authority to act on behalf of the presbytery in matters related to its responsibilities between Stated Meetings of the Presbytery.

In light of this proposed redesign of the Presbytery Council, the following recommendations would be made:

1. Dissolve the current Council Committees on Budget & Finance, Staff Services and Planning & Structure since their work would now fall under the Council which is free to organize itself into work teams and/or short term task groups as it would determine.
2. Make the Property and Investments Committee a standing committee of the presbytery and elect them as the corporate Trustees.
3. Create a Worship Team to plan worship for Stated Meetings of Presbytery. This team would be comprised of the Moderator and Vice-Moderator of presbytery plus up to five additional members (with expertise in worship and music) elected from the presbytery at-large.

Build relationships among clergy and congregations

We propose taking concrete steps toward building relationships among clergy and congregations within the Presbytery. We believe this is essential to building trust within the presbytery while at the same time helping the presbytery become a place where people can recognize and affirm their connectedness as friends and colleagues in Christian community. Building healthy relationships is also a critical and necessary step toward being able to actually do ministry together. We believe the presbytery should be a living example of what it means to live the communal life to which God calls us as the Body of Christ. We propose restructuring our presbytery meetings to reflect what our purpose and mission are, as well as what is most important in our life together and what will best help us accomplish our mission together and as individual congregations. This focus will help our meetings be meaningful and productive, and avoid getting side tracked.

To that end we suggest that we alter the time frame (max. 2 hrs), the format and location of stated meetings of Presbytery to provide for:

- spiritual nurture
- real fellowship
- networking and resource sharing among congregations
- consider alternate environments for presbytery meetings that are consistent with what we are doing

The proposed time limit is a result of the information we gathered. It seems that after two hours people lose their focus, frustration levels increase and productive discussion and decisions diminish significantly. Some perceive sanctuaries as a place where clergy talk and elders are silent. We propose considering meeting in places other than sanctuaries (at least some of the time), to see if this will significantly change the dynamics of our meetings.

Change to a more effective means of supporting and resourcing congregations

As we noted earlier, the widely held perception is that much of what the presbytery does is busy work. There is a great amount of administration that seems to be done by a committee of the whole. Committees are over

council 6/8/99
loaded and set upon many administrative tasks that are seen as tedious and off topic. As a result of these perceptions, we feel that the Presbytery of Detroit should:

- use standing committees only for ecclesiastical and administrative functions mandated by the constitution of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A)
- use short-term, team-based Task Forces to carry out the vision and mission of the presbytery

There is widespread frustration with committees meeting frequently while significant outcomes as a result of those meetings is perceived to be more of the exception rather than the rule. Moving to short-term, team-based Task Forces would necessitate that meetings have a specific purpose with a specific desired outcome within a specific time frame. Once that outcome is achieved the Task Force would cease to exist. This would not only be a more productive means of accomplishing tasks, but would encourage others to be more likely to participate both because of the clearly defined purpose of the group and the shorter time commitment required.

We also feel that the Presbytery of Detroit should:

- Commit budget funds to provide advanced training for clergy in congregational development
- Recruit, train and deploy cadres of program consultants to assist and support congregations directly

Instead of researching and creating events that we hope will meet the needs of our clergy, elders and churches, and then spending a great deal of energy trying to persuade people to come, this approach would meet the needs of clergy and churches directly. Instead of trying to create events, programs, etc. that are generalized enough to have mass appeal this would personalize our support and care of our clergy and churches and in the process be more effective. This approach would allow much less time to be spent in administration, more time in productive ministry.

- recognize we live in a culture of entitlement and individualism which runs counter to the Christian vision of community
- have presbytery leadership and staff intentionally focus on and lift up Jesus Christ as the source of our unity
- redirect staff time and priorities to pastoral care and support of congregation above that of maintenance and administration of presbytery structure

We believe that if we are to build a sense of community, caring and mission this has to be modeled by the leadership or it will not happen. We cannot ask presbytery staff to act one way and the members of our presbytery to act out a completely different paradigm. This means redefining staff positions so that they lead us in accomplishing our Presbytery's mission and vision. This is also necessary to protect staff from conflicting and unrealistic expectations. Staff would be asked to:

- be a clearing house for and facilitate the sharing of information between congregations and the denomination and among congregations by improving the means (e.g., electronic, written, oral and video) content (networking and broker resource partnerships) focus of communication (e.g., support and resource congregations)

This is necessary to carry out the previously listed recommendations effectively.

In addition, we recommend that the Presbytery of Detroit:

Declare the Year 2000 a Year of Jubilee in the Presbytery of Detroit

In the Old Testament (Leviticus), the Jubilee Year occurred every fiftieth year. It originated out of the concept that every seventh year the land was to lie fallow to rest. After seven times seven Sabbaths, the fiftieth year was the Year of Jubilee in which debts were to be forgiven. All land that was held for debts was to be returned to the person who sold it because of difficulty; and those who sold them selves into servitude because of difficulty were to be released with their families from service.

The Year of Jubilee was a time of rest and forgiveness; a time of new beginnings.

In the spirit of new beginnings, we propose that the Presbytery of Detroit observe a Year of Jubilee in the Year 2000, during which:

- A moratorium is declared on the work of all committees except those that are ecclesiastical and corporate (trustees); and that where necessary, the Presbytery Council make arrangements for work/mission teams to oversee ongoing mission work (like Barnabas Youth Opportunities Center, Grandale Mission Center, New Church Developments, Church Redevelopments, etc.).
- The presbytery staff, especially the Executive Presbyter and the Associate Executive Presbyter, focus their work less on administration and resourcing committees and more on pastoral care of congregations and clergy; and the support, visitation, and consultation with clergy and congregations.

Council 6/8/99
The Presbytery engages an outside consulting firm with experience working with nonprofit organizations to work with the Council and the Presbytery to develop a strategic plan for the future; and that the cost of this consultation be funded by the reallocation of the budgets of committees whose operations are suspended for the Year of Jubilee.

CONCLUSION

As we were commissioned our job was to develop a plan that could be put into place that would help members of the Presbytery of Detroit Build Ownership and Commitment to our Mission as a Presbytery. We feel that this report and recommendations can be a guide to making that happen. We have deliberated at length. We have sought the no-holds-barred input of a cross section of presbytery leaders and concerned Presbyterians. As we delved deeper into the thoughts and concerns lingering in the background, we discovered that our task would not be simple, nor would the recommendations always be easy to hear. Yet, we truly believe that if the Church of Jesus Christ called Presbyterian is to continue with strength and vitality in Detroit and the surrounding area, measures that to some might seem extreme must be undertaken. It is said that the system is designed to get the results that it is currently getting. In order to get different results, we must change the system. These recommendations would do precisely that. We invite you to embrace a new system and pray that the results will be the catalyst to help us move into the future.

STEERING COMMITTEE

Bob Perdue reported for the Committee. Upon motion by the Steering Committee, Council approved the following motions (as amended):

   (Dave Robertson requested his negative vote be recorded.)

6. To have a retreat in August to consider implementation steps for the Report, and that the Steering Committee be authorized to set the date for it.

PROPERTY AND INVESTMENTS COMMITTEE

Council 6/8/99
Don Brownell reported for the Committee. Upon motion of the Committee, Council voted to:
1. Approve a change in the cost of installing the telephone system from the previously approved (April 1999) $22,000 to $27,000.

5. Approve increasing the interest rate on the entire White Lake mortgage from 5.5% to 5.75% effective July 1, 1999.
6. Approve the interest rate of 5.75% through December 31, 1999.

Mr. Brownell made the following motion, which Council approved:
That, in the event there is a need to authorize repairs to the Park United Church building on Woodward prior to the September meetings of Council and Presbytery, the Property and Investments Committee is hereby empowered to contract for such services, provided:
1. The cost of such repairs does not exceed $15,000;
2. The costs will be added to Park United’s present loan balances; and
3. The payment monies to come from Presbytery’s Capital Fund.

BUDGET AND FINANCE COMMITTEE

Dave Robertson reported for the committee. Upon motion of the Committee, Council approved the following new process for budgeting and recommending to Presbytery the Proposed Budget for the Year 2000:

Process
1. A balanced Per Capita Expense Budget for the year 2000 totaling $296,961 to be funded by Per Capita for the year 2000 of $7.31.
   Ongoing Expenses totaling $597,203
   Annual Expenses totaling $118,777 as indicated on the attached Budget for the Year 2000.
3. A tentative process for determining expenditures from the Annual portion of the budget that includes something like the following:
   a) As units of the Presbytery develop specific plans (dates and dollars) for particular programs for the budget year 2000, these plans would be presented in detail first to the Budget Committee for affirmation as to consistency with Presbytery Mission Directions and financial management, and then to Council for approval.
   b) Council would be asked to evaluate requests from the various committees each year, and through the year, in granting funding.

Council 6/8/99
c) Council, through its Budget Committee, would monitor the implementation of these plans during the budget year.
d) Council, through its Budget Committee, would also monitor ongoing expense expenditures with the possibility of monies being freed during the year for Annual Expense programs.

The Budget & Finance Committee will develop and recommend to Council the form for making specific budget proposals to be funded from the Annual Expense portion of the Mission Budget as well as the detailed process to be followed in making such proposals.

For Information

Ongoing Expenses reflected on the attached Proposed Budget for the Year 2000 include the following:

COMMUNICATIONS

1. From the Stated Clerk of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) with a "special word of appreciation . . . for our faithful stewardship again in 1999. More than ever, maintaining the covenant connection that links together the body of Christ is crucial for the faithful witness of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.). Your Presbytery’s full support for 1999 per capita apportionment is a tangible sign of commitment to that vision, and I am extraordinarily grateful."

2. From the 211th General Assembly. A letter reporting on the status of Overture 99-34, In Sexual Orientation Conversion Therapies—From the Presbytery of Detroit. The Overture was answered by the action taken on Overture 99-56, which was:

   The 211th General Assembly (1999) affirms that the existing policy of inclusiveness welcomes all into membership of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) as we confess our sin and our need for repentance and God’s grace. The Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) affirms that medical treatment, psychological therapy, and pastoral counseling should be in conformity with recognized professional standards. In order to be consistent with this policy, no church should insist that gay and lesbian people need therapy to change to a heterosexual orientation, nor should it inhibit or discourage those individuals who are unhappy or are confused about their sexual orientation from seeking therapy they believe would be helpful.

   The 211th General Assembly (1999) directs the Stated Clerk to communicate this decision in a pastoral letter to all ministers of the Word and sacrament, clerks of session, and presbytery and synod stated clerks, and to national and international ecumenical bodies of which the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) is committed to covenantal relationship through the formula of agreement, and with COCU.

Council heard the report of the Transition Task Force.

The Task Force reported the guiding principles that it has adopted in managing the transitions involved in the Ownership and Commitment Report adopted by Council:

1. Reduce anxiety.
2. Increase trust/decrease distrust.
3. Encourage investment in the process.
5. Insure vital ministries continue.
6. Insure that the proposed Council & its entities be broadly represented of the diversity (age, race, ethnicity, urban, suburban, exurban, large church, small church, male, female, clergy, lay) of the Presbytery of Detroit.
The TF presented its recommendations for discussion. Anna Marie Austin presented her interpretation of how Church Strategy could identify and continue its “vital ministries.” Neeta Nichols presented possible ways to provide for continuing ministries.

The Stated Clerk presented proposed Jubilee Bylaws for implementing the implementation of the Ownership and Commitment Report.

Property and Investments Committee

Don Brownell reported for the Committee.

Mr Brownell moved the following from the Committee: That Council Approve granting Kirk of Our Savior, Westland, permission to borrow, from a commercial or denominational source, up to $50,000 for building repair. The terms and source of the loan are to be reported back to Property and Investments.

The following was approved as a substitute:

1. Approve the request of Kirk of Our Savior, Westland, to borrow, at the most favorable terms available, up to $50,000 for church roof replacement from:
   a) an outside source, e.g., a commercial loan, a General Assembly loan, a Synod loan, a Presbyterian Investments and Loan Program loan, or
   b) the Presbytery of Detroit Capital Loan Fund, or
   c) a combination of a) and b), and authorize the Property & Investments Committee to review and approve on behalf of the Council the final details and terms of such loan(s), including the recording of a mortgage with the Wayne County Recorder of Deeds if a loan is made from the Presbytery’s Capital Loan Fund.

Mr. Brownell moved and Council approved the following motions to:

1. Amend the Equity Participation Program Guidelines, Paragraph 1, which reads
   The Minister Member must be a member in good standing of the Presbytery of Detroit and a full-time member of the professional staff of congregation within the Presbytery.

   by deleting the words: “and a full-time member of the professional staff of congregation within the Presbytery,” so the amended paragraph will read:
   The Minister Member must be a member in good standing of the Presbytery of Detroit.

2. Approve entering into an Equity Participation Agreement with the Rev. Clover Bailey providing financing of $13,600, which represents 10% of the purchase price to buy property at 222 Jackson St., Chelsea, MI 48118.

PRIOR-DOCKETED ITEMS

At 3:00, Council heard the report of Roger Myers, President of Presbyterian Villages of Michigan regarding plans for a merger of Presbyterian Villages of Michigan with St. Johns Hospital System. Questions were raised regarding transfer of property and endowment assets to the new entity, the effect on the covenant between the Presbytery of Detroit and Presbyterian Villages, the likelihood of being swallowed up by the St. Johns Hospital system, the relationships between churches and Villages on property leased from or given or sold by churches, the apparent lack of consultation with Presbytery, future control over the assets, the emotional effect on members of Presbytery and its churches to a merger of a ministry long nurtured by the Presbytery.

Upon motion, Council voted to:

Direct the Chair of Council with the Stated Clerk to appoint a small group of no more than 5 people to strengthen communications with Presbyterian Villages of Michigan. (Abstain: Dunbar)

Council concluded discussions at 4:20.

5. Approve the following motions to bring to Presbytery the recommendations of the Ownership and Commitment Task Force and the Jubilee Bylaws (with procedural explanations to be included):

Council moves that Presbytery do the following to implement the recommendations of the Ownership and Commitment Task Force of Council:

1. Provide conflict resolution training experiences for Council/Pastors/Presbyters with an outside consultant to help us establish healthy conflict norms

2. Redesign the Presbytery Council as follows: (Included in the Jubilee Bylaws)
   a. Composition:
      i) The Presbytery Council will be comprised of 18 members, elected to three equal three-year classes, to serve no more than six (6) consecutive years, which serve in no other capacity within the Presbytery. The Chair of the Presbytery Council would be elected annually from within its membership of 18 and could serve for up to three consecutive years as chair. The Moderator and Vice-Moderator of presbytery, the Treasurer, Stated Clerk, and Executive Staff (presently the Executive Presbyter, Associate Presbyter, Director for Outdoor Ministries, and Administrator for Business Affairs) would serve as ex officio members of the Council without vote.

   b. Responsibilities:
      The Presbytery Council will be responsible for developing and proposing to the presbytery for adoption, a vision which establishes the direction for the Presbytery’s work, including goals and outcomes to be achieved. The Presbytery

Council 10/12/99
Council will serve as the custodian of the Presbytery’s vision and direction, taking the necessary actions to insure its accomplishment. The Council will therefore:

i) Facilitate the creation of work plans to implement the Presbytery’s vision and direction, establishing such team-based task forces, mission teams, and engaging consultants as may be required to carry out the work plans.

ii) Evaluate and direct the work of the presbytery staff in light of the Presbytery’s vision and direction.

iii) Develop and propose to the presbytery an annual budget that is consistent with and provides for the implementation of the Presbytery’s vision and direction.

iv) Assess the total performance of the presbytery based upon the goals and outcomes of the Presbytery’s vision and direction, taking appropriate actions as necessary to insure the accomplishment of those goals and outcomes.

v) Establish the time, place and docket for Stated Meetings of Presbytery.

vi) To facilitate two-way communication to the churches of the presbytery, with each council member serving as liaison to 5 or 6 churches to which they would make annual or semiannual visits.

vii) In addition, the Presbytery Council may be delegated the authority to act on behalf of the presbytery in matters related to its responsibilities between Stated Meetings of the Presbytery.

viii) Dissolve the current Council Committees on Budget & Finance, Staff Services and Planning & Structure since their work would now fall under the Council which is free to organize itself into work teams and/or short term task groups as it would determine.

3. Make the Property and Investments Committee a standing committee of the presbytery and elect them as the corporate Trustees. (Included in the Jubilee Bylaws)

4. Create a Worship Team to plan worship for Stated Meetings of Presbytery. This team would be comprised of the Moderator and Vice-Moderator of presbytery plus up to five additional members (with expertise in worship and music) elected from the presbytery at-large. (Included in the Jubilee Bylaws)

5. Build relationships among clergy and congregations.

   Alter the time frame (max. 2 hrs), the format and location of stated meetings of Presbytery to provide for:

   i) spiritual nurture

   ii) real fellowship

   iii) networking and resource sharing among congregations

   iv) consider alternate environments for presbytery meetings that are consistent with what we are doing

6. Implement the following means of supporting and resourcing congregations

   a. Use standing committees only for ecclesiastical and administrative functions mandated by the constitution of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A) (Included in the Jubilee Bylaws)

   b. Use short-term, team-based Task Forces to carry out the vision and mission of the presbytery

   c. Commit budget funds to provide advanced training for clergy in congregational development

Council 10/12/99
d. Recruit, train and deploy cadres of program consultants to assist and support congregations directly.

e. recognize we live in a culture of entitlement and individualism which runs counter to the Christian vision of community.

f. have presbytery leadership and staff intentionally focus on and lift up Jesus Christ as the source of our unity.

g. redirect staff time and priorities to pastoral care and support of congregation above that of maintenance and administration of presbytery structure.

h. be a clearing house for and facilitate the sharing of information between congregations and the denomination and among congregations by improving the means (e.g., electronic, written, oral and video) content (networking and broker resource partnerships) focus of communication (e.g., support and resource congregations).

7. Declare the Year 2000 a Year of Jubilee in the Presbytery of Detroit

a. Declare a moratorium on the work of all committees except those that are ecclesiastical and corporate (trustees); and that where necessary, the Presbytery Council make arrangements for work/mission teams to oversee ongoing mission work (like Barnabas Youth Opportunities Center, Grandale Mission Center, New Church Developments, Church Redevelopments, etc.). (Included in the Jubilee Bylaws)

b. The presbytery staff, especially the Executive Presbyter and the Associate Executive Presbyter, shall focus their work less on administration and resourcing committees and more on pastoral care of congregations and clergy; and the support, visitation, and consultation with clergy and congregations.

c. Engage an outside consulting firm with experience working with nonprofit organizations to work with the Council and the Presbytery to develop a strategic plan for the future; and that the cost of this consultation be funded by the reallocation of the budgets of committees whose operations are suspended for the Year of Jubilee.

Notice having been given at the September meeting and the call to this meeting, Council moves the revision of the Bylaws by adoption of the “Jubilee Bylaws,” and that they become effective as of January 1, 2000.

STAFF SERVICES

James Skimins reported for the Committee.

Mr. Skimins presented a proposed position description for the new Executive Presbyter that reflects the position if Presbytery approves the Ownership and Commitment Task Force recommendations and bylaw proposed by the Council. The Committee is proposing that any interim executive work under the same job description. The plan is to propose the description for approval at the November Presbytery meeting.

The Committee will interview a candidate for the position of “acting interim” this week.

Because of the time frame involved with the potential re-structuring of Presbytery, it will focus on seeking an Acting Interim Executive.

The Committee will make contact with the Korean and African American communities for advice on the most appropriate way to encourage applications for the new executive positions. Traditional processes to not work.
ADJOURNMENT

There being no further business to come before the Council, the meeting was adjourned at 5:40 and dismissed with prayer by Nile Harper.

The next Council meeting will convene on Tuesday, November 9, 1999 at 2:30.

Council reported the following for information:
Council has approved the following
1. "That Council adopt the following overture and submit it to the search committees that will do the search with instructions to conform to it, and that this be reported to Presbytery."

OVERTURE TO THE PRESBYTERY OF DETROIT

Whereas: Northminster and Trinity members have been meeting together for over four years in the interest of racial reconciliation;

Whereas: The communities served by the Presbytery incorporate a vast diversity of racial and ethnic constituencies including persons of European, African, Asian and Middle Eastern origins;

Whereas: The Presbytery of Detroit has repeatedly experienced racially based stress and conflict in the conduct of its business and in the allocation of its resources, particularly between persons of African American and European ancestry.

Presbytery 11/23/99
Whereas: The Presbytery of Detroit is on record opposing racism, affirming its intention to become an anti-racist Presbytery;

Whereas: The various governing bodies of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) have consistently denounced racism and affirmed inclusiveness and diversity as characteristics of communities faithful to the Gospel of Jesus Christ;

Whereas: Book of Order G-4:0403 calls for racial and cultural inclusiveness in the governing bodies of the church and G-9:0105 calls for a similar inclusiveness in staffing patterns;

Therefore, be it resolved, in order to take immediate steps in implementing these mandates:

1. That every effort be made to locate, encourage, and hire at least one person of African American descent in an interim and/or permanent executive position in Detroit Presbytery as a first step toward fuller racial and cultural inclusiveness

   And,

2. That the Presbytery of Detroit instruct any groups seeking interim or permanent staff to function in a proactive manner, searching actively for capable, experienced non-white candidates of either gender as a second step toward fuller racial and cultural inclusiveness in the process.

2. Approved an additional $5,000 to complete the tuck pointing of the north wall of the Park United church, if necessary to complete the job. All work would be reviewed by Richard Tyndall of the Property and Investments Committee. The amount would be a silent loan which would be reviewed after one year from date work is completed.

3. Approved covering the cost of removing the existing water fountain in the Jefferson Avenue Building and repairing the adjacent wall to match existing wall. The cost not to exceed $500. Funds to come from the Capital Fund.

4. Approved an additional $1,000 (to the earlier $12,000 approved by Council 10/12/99) to upgrade Presbytery’s networked computer system.

Upon motion and after debate, Presbytery approved the following:

That Presbytery direct Council to change the action in mandate #1 [of the Trinity/Northville overture in item 1 of information] to read: “That the Detroit Presbytery hire at least one person of African American descent in an interim and/or permanent executive position as a first step toward fuller racial and cultural inclusiveness.”

Order of the Day

The following motion was made:
That Council adopt and recommend to Presbytery the overture, as follows:

Motion approved.

OVERTURE TO THE PRESBYTERY OF DETROIT

Whereas: Northminster and Trinity members have been meeting together for over four years in the interest of racial reconciliation;
Whereas: The communities served by the Presbytery incorporate a vast diversity of racial and ethnic constituencies including persons of European, African, Asian and Middle Eastern origins;
Whereas: The Presbytery of Detroit has repeatedly experienced racially based stress and conflict in the conduct of its business and in the allocation of its resources, particularly between persons of African American and European ancestry;
Whereas: The Presbytery of Detroit is on record opposing racism, affirming its intention to become an anti-racist Presbytery;
Whereas: The various governing bodies of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) have consistently denounced racism and affirmed inclusiveness and diversity as characteristics of communities faithful to the Gospel of Jesus Christ;

Whereas: Book of Order G-4:0403 calls for racial and cultural inclusiveness in the governing bodies of the church and G-9:0105 calls for a similar inclusiveness in staffing patterns;
Therefore, be it resolved, in order to take immediate steps in implementing these mandates:

1. That every effort be made to locate, encourage, and hire at least one person of African American descent in an interim and/or permanent executive position in Detroit Presbytery as a first step toward fuller racial and cultural inclusiveness

And,

2. That the Presbytery of Detroit instruct any groups seeking interim or permanent staff to function in a proactive manner, searching actively for capable, experienced non-white candidates of either gender as a second step in the process.

The following amendments were made:

To resolution 2, the following was added after the words "second step": "toward fuller racial and cultural inclusiveness."

The following substitute motion was offered and approved after debate:

"That Council adopt the following overture and submit it to the search committees that will do the search with instructions to conform to it, and that this be reported to Presbytery."

The motion as amended was approved.

PROPERTY AND INVESTMENTS COMMITTEE

2. Approve covering the cost of removing the existing water fountain in the Jefferson Avenue Building and repairing the adjacent wall to match existing wall. The cost not to exceed $500. Funds to come from the Capital Fund.

3. Approve the interest rate of 6.25% to be in effect from January 1, 2000 through June 30, 2000.
