

Kirk in the Hills Presents

FEARLESS[™] DIALOGUES

Dinner and Conversation

Friday, March 1 • 6:00 p.m. in the Refectory

With visiting theologians Rev. Dr. Gregory Ellison and Rev. Dr. Georgette Ledgister

“... for I was hungry and you gave me food, I was thirsty and you gave me something to drink, I was a stranger and you welcomed me ...” Welcoming strangers to our midst is not always easy. Yet, Jesus calls us to welcome strangers as surely as we would welcome him. How do we do that? In Fear+less Dialogues, Dr. Ellison writes that when we do not see and hear each other as persons of worth, we are unable to collaborate and work toward the change that may be necessary. Join us as Dr. Ellison and Dr. Ledgister help us to recognize ways of welcoming that will ensure a place of belonging for all.

Gregory Ellison is associate professor of pastoral care and counseling at Emory University’s Candler School of Theology. He holds a B.A. from Emory University, and a M.Div. and Ph.D. from Princeton Theological Seminary. Ellison is author of Fearless Dialogues: A New Movement for Justice and founder of GE II & Associates and Fearless Dialogues.

Georgette Ledgister is the Executive Director of Fearless Dialogues. She holds undergraduate, M.Div., and Ph.D. degrees in social ethics and conflict transformation from Emory University, where she lectures in courses on ethics, conflict transformation, practical theology, and religious studies.

Fearless Dialogues is a grassroots organization committed to creating unique spaces for unlikely partners to engage in hard heartfelt conversations that see gifts in others, hear value in stories, and work for change and positive transformation in self and others.
